

Maritime Unions Expected to Okay New Pact Quickly

Agreement Ends 75-Day Strike
In East and Gulf Coast Ports

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of two maritime unions say they will recommend speedy ratification of the agreement ending the costly 75-day shipping strike in East and Gulf Coast ports.

The two unions are the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots, and the American Radio Association, both AFL-CIO.

Ratification could come by Wednesday, with ships sailing the following day.

President Johnson, who announced the settlement, hailed it as a step "toward a new and responsible maritime policy in this country."

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and union and management negotiators had held continuous bargaining sessions in Washington.

100 Ships Idle

Nearly 100 ships have been idled by the strike that began June 15. President Johnson said strike losses, which have been estimated unofficially at about $150 million, "cannot ever be recovered."

The American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents eight shipping lines that have been struck, reached agreement Aug. 29 with a third union, the Marine Engineer Beneficial Association.

The President told a news conference at his Texas ranch that "normal operation of the Merchant Marine will now be resumed."

He added in a statement: "A firm basis has been laid... for resolving manning disputes resulting from automation, without interruption of operations."

4-Year Contract

The agreement provides for a four-year, no-strike contract. It includes a 3.2 per cent increase in economic benefits, eliminates contract inequities between various seagoing unions, according to a union spokesman, and establishes greater job security in addition to providing pension guarantees.

Capt. Lloyd W. Sheldon, president of the Masters Union, and William R. Steinberg, president of the Radio Association, said their unions had "won a good contract."

The strike had a crippling effect on other maritime employees, in addition to disrupting cruise vacations of passengers, bearers would attend.

Post-Crescent to Run Series on Johnson

The second year of Lyndon Johnson's presidency is nearing an end.

Just how much has been done and how he goes about his business is set forth in a four-part series by the Associated Press to start in Tuesday's Post-Crescent.

U. S. Involved By 90,000

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The number of U.S. military personnel in South Viet Nam totaled about 90,000 as of midnight Thursday, Aug. 26, an announcement said today.

This breakdown by services was given: Army 43,000, Navy 4,900, Marine Corps 29,000, Air Force 12,100 and Coast Guard 250.

guerrillas attacked a half-dozen outposts south of Saigon, overrunning three of them.

One of the B52 strikes was made Saturday in northern Quang Tin Province, 325 miles north of Saigon. The other, on Sunday, again hit Zone D, the 600-square-mile jungle area which starts 30 miles north of Saigon.

14th Strike
The strikes by the Guam-based eighth-engine planes were the 13th and 14th reported in the larger than the Moon and Mars. Five of them were carried out in the last six days.

Johnson Calls Negotiators in Steel Dispute

President's Plane
Hauls Top Ten
To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned steel negotiators to a White House meeting today in an attempt to end what he called a stalemate and head off a strike.

The President dispatched his personal plane to Pittsburgh to bring the 10 principal spokesmen for unions and steel producers to the conference table at the White House. The chief negotiators are I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper, representing 10 major producers.

The plane is expected to get them to Washington in time for an afternoon session with Johnson, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

Tuesday Deadline

The strike deadline is Tuesday midnight.

Johnson's decision to take a personal hand in the steel dispute at this point followed a report from the fact-finding team he sent to Pittsburgh Saturday. The word from the two members, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Undersecretary of Commerce LeRoy Collins was that the negotiators were getting nowhere and the negotiations were stalemated.

So Johnson decided, a White House statement said, "to request the principal negotiators of both parties to come to the White House immediately" for the meeting with himself and his two Cabinet members.

The White House said Johnson got a thorough, comprehensive report from Morse and Collins at the breakfast table, with Wirtz and Connor also present along with William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Betsy Slows, Moves to Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy, her 80-mile-per-hour winds expected to intensify, slowed down today 1,000 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Betsy bypassed Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Northern Leeward Islands Sunday as she swept on a north-northwesterly course which took her into open seas.

Her forward movement slowed from 21 to 17 and then to 12 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said a "gradual increase in intensity is expected, but there is no immediate threat to any land area."

Gronouski Is Ambassador To Poland; O'Brien Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, the husky, hard-working son of Irish immigrants, is an organizer.

He'll need his experience when he becomes the new postmaster general, running the vast U.S. mail system with its almost 600,000 employees.

John A. Gronouski, the husky and hard-working grandson of a Polish immigrant, is amiable, likes people. Those traits popped up in the announcement that Gronouski, present postmaster general, has been selected to be the new U.S. ambassador to Poland.

President Johnson announced the selections Sunday.

Kennedy Men

O'Brien, 48, of Massachusetts, and Gronouski, 45, of Wisconsin, were brought to Washington by President John F. Kennedy. Both stayed to work for Johnson.

Both have been toilers in the vineyards of the Democratic party.

O'Brien, as special assistant to the President, has been the liaison man between the White House and Congress, for both Kennedy and Johnson.

"I know of no single individual who has contributed more to the enactment of legislation that touches the lives of so many Americans," Johnson said of him.

Ran Campaign
O'Brien has worked many jobs — even tending bar in his father's restaurant in Springfield, Mass., while earning a law degree. Later, he was vice president of a public relations firm in Springfield.

In 1952, he organized Kennedy's campaign for the Senate. He was national organizer for the Kennedy-Johnson campaign, state income taxes. He had of 1960, and he was in Dallas with Kennedy that fateful Nov. 22, 1963.

After the assassination, O'Brien said he would stay on at the White House to press for legislation because Kennedy would have wanted it.

Gronouski, from the little town of Dunbar, Wis., holds a doctor of philosophy degree in government. He has taught economics and public finances at various universities and was Wisconsin's state tax commissioner before coming to Washington.

Taught in Maine
He graduated from St. Patrick's High School in Oshkosh and attended Oshkosh State Col-

Officials Say 8-Day Trip Qualifies Man for Travel To Moon in Apollo Flights

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

AP Aerospace Writer

MANNED SPACE CENTER,

Houston, Tex. (AP) — Doctors

began probing the physical condition of America's Gemini 5

space champs today while space officials already spoke enthusi-cally of having qualified man for an eight-day roundtrip to the moon.

A sharp eye was kept on As-

and Charles Conrad Jr. to see whether disturbing symptoms might yet crop up in exhaustive medical examinations.

So far, in tests aboard the USS Lake Champlain, no such symptoms had been reported.

Testing will continue for weeks.

Happy officials here expressed their confidence this way in a press briefing shortly after the astronauts were brought aboard the Champlain

by helicopter Sunday.

Crew Qualified

Dr. Robert Gilruth, Manned

Spacecraft Center director: "As you all know, we are driving forward to go to the moon during this decade, and someone said there in control center:

"We've now qualified one of the subsystems for the mission.

That's the crew."

Dr. Charles Berry, flight surgeon: "We don't like to necessarily consider the crew as sub-systems, but we certainly have the first of any parts of the Apollo system (the moon rocket project) that are qualified for eight days.

The space heroes were to sleep as long as they liked today. After more examinations, the men were to be flown to Cape Kennedy, about 400 miles from the carrier, to begin 11 days of seclusion.

The two-hour flight will be a snails pace compared to the 17-

500-mile-per-hour speed of the space chariot that carried Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Conrad, a Navy lieutenant commander, for almost eight days of weightless flying.

Remarkable Condition

First examinations Sunday aboard the Champlain indicated the men were in remarkable physical condition.

President Johnson phoned his congratulations to the space twins almost by the time they had removed their silver space

Green Bay Theater's 'Camelot' Lavish Show

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

DE PERE — The courageous knights and gorgeously garbed ladies of King Arthur's court paraded across the stage of the Hall of Fine Arts, St. Norbert College, in colorful array Saturday evening as Music Theater Green Bay, under the direction of Dudley Birder, presented an earnest, if conventionally conceived, production of Lerner and Loewe's "Camelot".

Benefiting from an excellent orchestra, and with an extra injection of spirit and humor from veteran performer Joseph Hill as King Pellinore, the Green Bay company approached their familiar material with reverence and occasional verve, and received an ovation and repeated curtain calls from the capacity audience.

In addition to the aforementioned Mr. Hill, whose characterization of the vagabond sovereign perfectly captured the satiric warmth of Alan Jay Lerner's lines, acting and vocal honors must be awarded to Rose Gantenbein, whose lyric gift was equal to the demands of the score, and whose beauty as Guenevere made the infatuation of both Arthur and Lancelot believable.

Hatfield Good

Grant Killoran, as Lancelot, conveyed the spiritual purity of that exceptional knight with almost odious conviction, and Patrick Wright capably portrayed Arthur's agonized indecision. Neither actor was, however, as comfortable with the score as was the leading lady.

Ralph Ehlinger's well-drawn Merlin vanished all too early into the mists of prophetic memory, and Sugar Moore showed restraint and canine good humor as King Pellinore's bushy-browed companion, Horrid.

Alice Heyman's unseen Nimue, vocally projected against one of the presentation's many painted backdrops, contributed materially to the ominous scene in which Merlin is deprived of his magical powers, and Vicki Moss, as Morgan LeFey, danced with notable vivacity in the "Persuasion" scene.

Meddlesome Mordred

Robert Brault's conception of the meddlesome Mordred was indeed, as the script states, a "cartoon," and struck this ob-

Jingo Lauds Foreign Policy 'White Paper'

Nighttime Special Producer Is Fred Freed, 1964 Emmy Award-Winner for Cuban Series

BY JINGO

Today Jingo temporarily puts aside his needle and picks up a lance to issue a chivalrous salute to the National Broadcasting Co., which on Tuesday may face in the years immediately ahead. Among the questions to be explored on the show are: —What has been U.S. Foreign policy?

evening, Sept. 7, will devote its entire nighttime schedule to an unprecedented, three and one-half-hour study of American foreign policy over the past 20 years.

Sponsored by an airline which Jingo cannot identify except to say that it is headquartered on the Eastern coast, this program, "An American White Paper: American Foreign Policy 1945-1965," will be telecast from 6:30 to 10 p.m.

The program will survey the role of the United States in the world since the end of World War II, and assess the successes and failures of our foreign policy. In addition to bringing viewers up to date on the quandaries and challenges America faced in the past, the NBC News presentation will highlight the issues this country

6:30-7 (Channel 5) — Karen, the innocuous little series about the adventures of a teen-age innocent, calls it quits after a repeat of "Holiday in Sun National Drivers' Test is a Must Valley," which concerns what happens to a 16-year-old when she tries to pose as a 12-year-old. Not much. (Color) (R)

6:30 - 7:30 (Channel 11) — Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea's "The Fearmakers" involves the Seaview diving to the depths in search of sister sub Polidor. (R)

7-8 (Channel 4-5) — More great fun on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. as Robert Vaughn and David McCallum enlist the help of debt-ridden William Shatner and his wife Peggy Ann Garner to set up a gigantic frame to rid the world of a war-mongering ambassador. (R)

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — Summer Playhouse repeats Eve Arden's comedy pilot "He's All Yours." There is not much to worry about in this slim outing which has Eve running a travel agency in London. (R)

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Andy Williams Show is in a summery, turn-of-the-century mood. It's post time, and at the track are Andy and guests Maureen O'Hara and Bill Dana encouraging the fillies with tunes like "Dublin Downs." (Color) (R)

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — Only last week The Farmer's Daughter was spouting "Ja, Ja" a thousand times to Congressman Morley's marriage proposal. But in this juvenile episode, the eager governess runs into opposition from her Minnesota family. (R)

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Alfred Hitchcock Hour's "Night Fever" is highly reminiscent of The Doctors and the Nurses. Colleen Dewhurst plays a tough nurse who is constantly being needed by gunman Tom Simcox to aid him in a plan to escape from his hospital prison bed. (R)

Kathy Kennedy Ready to Ride Again After Fall

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Kathleen Kennedy, 14, daughter of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., reportedly says she's ready to ride again just as soon as doctors discharge her from Cape Cod Hospital.

She suffered a mild concussion when her horse missed a jump and fell on her and she was rushed unconscious to the hospital, where her brother, Robert Jr., 11, was admitted Friday with a severe leg wound. Robert fell from a garage roof at the Kennedy compound. A hundred stitches were taken to close the wound.

Tell Ladies Jamboree Winners

A best ball horse race was the golfing event at North Shore Golf Club Wednesday at the Ladies Jamboree.

Mrs. Robert Mosher and Mrs. Urban Kruppene composed the winning team of horses. However, Mrs. Andrew Sharp and Mrs. Larry Roeck beat the team with a best ball of 31 and Mrs. Richard Stafford and Mrs. James McNevins beat the horse team with a best ball of 30.

Blind bogey winners were Mrs. Howard Angermeyer, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. Palmer McConnell, Mrs. Richard Sawtell, Mrs. Fred Leach, Mrs. Edward Burch, Mrs. Charles McClure and Mrs. Kenneth Dickinson Jr.

Mrs. McClure had the longest putt on the 18th hole and Mrs. Lyl Williams was closest to the pin on the fourth hole.

The awards luncheon will take place Wednesday.

Signing Up to Beat the Horses are Mrs. Howard Angermeyer, Neenah, Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Appleton, Mrs. Robert Melson, Neenah, and Mrs. Urban Kruppene, Menasha. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Your Problems Readers, Dentists Speak Out On Topic of Emergency Cases

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR READERS: Recently I printed a letter from a mother, who was fairly steaming. Her son had developed a severe toothache during the night. The following morning she called six dentists but was unable to get an appointment for her boy.

She wrote, "I was not asking for charity. We are in average circumstances and are in the habit of paying our bills on time. All I wanted was someone to relieve my son of the pain."

I offered to print an explanation from dentists or anyone else who might have something to say on the subject. And the avalanche began.

One of the best responses came from a commander in the dental corps of the U.S. Navy. He wrote:

"While I cannot condone such unethical action by the civilian members of my profession, I would like to say that approximately 999 out of 1,000 so-called dental emergencies occur in teeth so badly broken down, due to neglect, that such a situation can scarcely be called an emergency."

"A person who is in pain should go, in person, to the dentist's office and be prepared to wait. If a patient cancels or is late, the dentist would be inclined to work in the emergency patient or take him at the close of the day. It is inconceivable to me that any dentist, worthy of a degree, would walk out of his office and leave a suffering patient in the waiting room. — D.D.S."

Dentists from San Bernardino, Saginaw, Minneapolis, Columbus, Detroit, Philadelphia, Houston and Binghamton, suggested that such a deplorable lack of professional ethics be reported by letter to the American Dental Association, 222 East Superior Street, Chicago 11, Illinois, stating names, dates, and details.

A La Crosse, Wis. reader wrote: "O. City Mother lives in the wrong town. She should come to La Crosse. Very early on a Sunday morning, I fell and broke the cap off a front tooth. It was not only painful but disfiguring. I called Dr. R. at 7:30 a.m. He told me to go to his office at once and he would meet me there. When I arrived he was ready to go to work."

Wichita, Kan.: "As a mother who has had 100 per cent co-operation from two dentists I feel I should speak out in response to O. City Mother. "One evening several months ago our 12-year-old son fell at play and knocked out four front teeth. I called my dentist and he left an important conference to round up a specialist. The specialist got a baby sitter for his children and brought his wife to his office to assist him. They worked until midnight re-rooting my son's teeth."

The responses from my readers ran 25 to 1 in support of dentists. The vast majority of critical letters came from the smaller towns.

I decided to run my own survey and learn, firsthand, what goes on with the dentists, in my own city. Two Ann Landers assistants, plus myself, telephoned 30 Chicago dentists whose names we selected, at random, from the yellow pages of the telephone book. The plea went something like this:

"I just moved to Chicago from Wisconsin and I don't know anyone here. I work in the Loop as a salesperson. I've been up all night with a terrible toothache. Can you possibly see me today?"

Tomorrow I will give you chapter and verse on the results of the telephone calls.

Wedding Promises Exchanged

First Congregational Church was the setting at 4 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Joan Courtney Riestler and Lyle W. Mitschelen. Performing the double ring rite was the Rev. E. Graham Waring.

Eleven Presentees at The Candlelight Ball

12th Annual Event at Riverview

BY SENA GRAY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Bouquets of yellow and white flowers gleamed in the soft light of candles and sumac added a colorful background for the huckleberry archway through which 11 daughters of Riverview Country Club members entered and were introduced by their fathers to the club president, Harwood Orbison, and in turn to assembled members Saturday evening.

The presentees were gowned in traditional long white formal attire and carried nosegays of white gladiolus, white stephanotis and green bells of Ireland.

Presented at the 12th annual Candlelight Ball were Misses Barbara Ann Gmeiner, Mary Lindsay Schulenburg, Carol Leigh Behnke, Deborah Vance Brownell, Deborah Scott Baker, Suzanne Benton Dostal, Nancy Suzanne Taylor, Nancy Pegeen Woody, Helen Laurel Gabert, Margaret Jean McClure and Janet Clare Nelson.

The evening began with a pre-party for the young women and their escorts at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Schulenburg. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dostal. After dinner, the formal ceremony and dancing, the couples were feted at a post-party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClure, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Brownell.

Friends of the presentees joined them at Riverview for dancing at 10 p.m. after the presentation.

Miss Gmeiner, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Gmeiner, 1560 Palisades Drive, chose an empire style gown of silk organza for the event. The bodice and skirt were detailed with rows of tiny tucks and re-embroidered Alencon lace which also outlined the scalloped scoop neckline and sleeves. Her escort was Steve Bates.

Escorted to the ball by Patrick Gendron, Miss Schulenburg wore a gown of peau de soie with a panel-draped back. A white velvet ribbon accented the empire waistline. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Schulenburg, 824 Front St.

Miss Behnke, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George A. Behnke, 1107 Riverside Drive, Kaukauna, was attired in a tissue crepe semi-strapless gown with a daisy motif across the bodice and arms. Her evening escort was Gary Schubring.

A gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta with swirls of nylon accenting the design was chosen by Miss Brownell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Brownell, 1212 Opechee St. The fitted bodice and A-line skirt were detailed with a satin bow and streamers. John Mummie escorted her to the ball.

Ted Kloehn escorted Miss Baker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Baker, 1601 S. Outagamie St. Her gown was of silk chiffon with a fitted bodice and scoop neckline. The front of the skirt of the empire style dress was done in a hand-beaded design.

Miss Woody, escorted to the ball by Dale Dexheimer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Woody, 140 Anton Court. Her gown was fashioned of angelskin peau de soie. It had a fitted bodice with a mock bolero effect detailed with Venice lace and chalk-white bead droplets. The skirt was softly belled. A graduate of Menasha High School, Miss Woody will study medical technology at Hamline University, St. Paul, Minn. She lists reading, swimming and golf as her hobbies. She spent her summer vacation on a four weeks' trip to the West Coast.

The Candlelight Ball gown of Miss Dostal's was of peau de soie with small brilliants on the bodice. It had a cowl neckline and full, softly draped skirt. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dostal, 500 N. Vine St. Her evening's escort was Russell Grobe.

Mark Tepper escorted Miss Taylor to the ball. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fleming Taylor, 1024 E. Glendale Ave., chose a dress of lace with a scoop neckline and bell shaped skirt.

Miss Gabert was attired in peau de soie and Florentine lace. The fitted lace bodice was sleeveless with a modified square neckline. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gabert, 1718 S. Douglas St., was escorted by Joe Cox.

Thomas Strover was the escort of Miss Nelson. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Nelson, 420 W. Seymour St., chose a peau de soie empire style gown.

Miss McClure, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee McClure, 825 E. Alton St., wore a gown which was fitted to the hips where it flared into a full darted skirt of old French lace. The top had a straight cut neck in the front and a low V-back. Andrew Webster was her escort.

Kennedy Asked to Speak Against Apartheid Policy in South Africa

BY ROBERTS S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Sen Robert Kennedy, D. N.Y., is making plans to do some foreign traveling — including a possible visit to race-troubled South Africa.

The National Union of South African Students, mainly opposed to that government's apartheid policies, has invited him to deliver an address at the University of Cape Town. The occasion would be the organization's "National Day of Affirmation of Academic and Human Freedom."

Assistants of Kennedy say he is "considering the matter." There is no indication when he might make a decision.

The South African government is uneasily closely watching the situation.

Unhappy Dilemma

The likelihood of a visit and public address by the brother and close confidant of the late President, certain to attract the fact that Bobby, as his late world attention, confronts that brother's closest adviser, definitely had a hand in the latter's considerable expansion of U.S. military forces and operations in Viet Nam.

When President Kennedy took office in 1961 the U.S. had less than 1,000 military advisers in South Viet Nam. At the time of his death in November 1963, the number had risen to more than 15,000, and the tenor of U.S. armed support had undergone a marked change.

As a Senator, Bobby has made three foreign affairs speeches. In none has he said anything about the grim and Foremost among the latter are the highly prized U.S. tracking station and other space facilities.

Possible Hassle

The last thing the Administration wants is to become embroiled in a hassle over a visit to South Africa by Kennedy.

It couldn't stop it if it wanted to and at the same time it efforts could be extremely embarrassing.

Slap By Bobby

In a speech last month, Bobby particularly accentuated by the deemed a slap at the Administration's acute awareness of that neither the young New York Senator nor his brother, should emphasize political rather than military solutions for support of the Administration's Viet Nam policy.

Neither has voiced any criticism. They have just been mute.

While virtually every other Democratic senator, particularly the group of young liberals at Viet Nam and the military intervention in the Dominican Republic, this was denied by another the two Kennedy brothers have been silent.

Curious Fact

To White House insiders, this is singularly curious in view of the President's first already free. It is a war of Democratic opponents of the Viet Nam policy urged him to take the lead in raising that issue. After some deliberation, he decided against it.

Diplomatic Problem

Subsequently, a close New York press friend quoted him as saying, "I believe we have erred for some time in regarding Viet Nam as purely a military problem when in its essential aspects it is also a political and diplomatic problem. I would wish, for example, that the request for this appropriation had made provisions for programs to better the lives of the people of South Viet Nam. For success will depend not only on protecting the people from aggression, but on giving them hope for a better life which alone can fortify them for the labor and sacrifice ahead."

If and when Bobby, and his brother will speak out on Viet Nam remains to be seen.

So far, as one White House insider sardonically remarked, "They have maintained a significant silence. What that means is anyone's guess. Of course, there is the theory that if you're not for us, you're against us."

President Kennedy

The record is clearcut on President Kennedy's views about Viet Nam. Following are illustrative highlights.

Aug. 2, 1961: "The United States is determined that the Republic of South Viet Nam shall not be lost to the communists for lack of support which the United States Government can render."

Dec. 15, 1961: "We are prepared to help the Republic of South Viet Nam to protect its people and to preserve its independence. We shall promptly increase our assistance to the defense effort."

Jan. 1962: "The systematic aggression now bleeding South Viet Nam is not a 'war of liberation' for that country is already free. It is a war of us to withdraw from Viet Nam would mean collapse not only of South Viet Nam but all of Southeast Asia."

Monday, August 30, 1965

September 1963: "What helps to win the war we support; what interferes with the war effort we oppose. We want the war to be won, the communists to be contained, and the Americans to go home."

Oct. 1963: "The security of South Viet Nam is of major interest to the United States as of other free nations. We will adhere to our policy of working with the people and the government of South Viet Nam to deny their country to communism and to suppress the externally stimulated and supported insurgency of the Viet Cong"

Strike, Rain Keep Projects At Standstill

Mediators Say They Have No Idea When Talks Will Resume

A strike by two unions and a steady rain combined to produce a standstill in major construction projects in the Fox Cities today.

State and federal mediators indicated they had no idea as to when bargaining talks would be resumed between union and management bargainers.

All but one member firm of the Fox Valley Construction Material Suppliers were struck by Teamsters Local 563 Thursday when 1965 contract negotiations broke down. The old contract expired May 1.

On Friday, sand and gravel truck drivers followed the ready-mix concrete drivers in striking, as did the members of Operating Engineers Local 139.

Major construction has been crippled in Appleton and the Neenah-Menasha area as a result.

The chief negotiators for the contractors' association will not be back in the city until Wednesday.

A union spokesman said the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) has been notified that Local 563 bargainers are willing to meet with management "at any time" to resume negotiations.

In the meantime, main and subsidiary plants of association members are being picketed.

Appleton Girl Makes 2 Attempts To Take Own Life

A 17-year-old Appleton girl who used a razor blade to cut her wrists early this morning, attempted to take her life a second time after she was committed to the juvenile section of the Outagamie County jail.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said the girl fashioned a loop out of a piece of clothing and tied it to a light fixture in the cell. She was seen by jailers before she was able to hang herself, Spice said, and was moved to another cell.

Appleton police took the girl into custody about 2 a.m. today at her apartment home where her mother said she had slashed at her wrists with the razor blade and had attempted to crawl through a second floor window to leap from the apartment.

Police said the girl refused first aid for the slash marks and did not appear too seriously injured.

Three Persons Hurt In One-Car Accident, Driver Held in Jail

Three persons are in Bellin Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries they received Friday night in a one car accident on Outagamie County Trunk EE near E. County police said the car went off the road and struck a bank.

Injured were Mrs. Rodney Wilber, of Milwaukee, Orville Webster, route 2, West DePere, and William Hill, of Oneida.

Ages of the three were not learned.

Driver of the car, Earl Cornelius, 26, route 1, Oneida, was not injured. He is being held in the Outagamie County jail pending a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Retailers Urged to Renovate In Struggle Against 'Bigness'

Speaker Warns of Big Labor, Government at Appleton Parley

Independent retailers from throughout the state were urged to modernize to save themselves in the struggle against combines, big labor and big government at a convention banquet at the Conway Hotel Sunday night.

"You are the unit without which the free enterprise system cannot work," Ed Wimmer, vice president of the National Federation of Independent Business, told members attending the 48th Retail Meat and Food Dealers Association gathering. "When you fix up your store you do it not only for yourself but for your country's future. You owe your son the heritage of a free market," Wimmer said in his pep talk.

A man who spends $25,000 a year traveling around the United States and Canada speaking to small businessmen for NFIB, Wimmer warned the retailers of the threat of discount houses, growing government power, merging corporations and big labor unions.

He spoke of women as "the most destructive force on the face of the earth" with the $221 billion purchasing power they wield. He said women shoppers with "a trading stamp gleam in their eye" are "beating the small businessman to death."

He urged the retailers and private organizations to take action, saying, "Organizations that confine themselves to their own backyard will soon have no backyard to play in."

Stumbling Block for Socialism He stressed his belief that "Small business is the principal stumbling block in the way of socialism and communism." He told the gathering they must ask themselves, "Am I my brother's keeper or is the state the keeper of my brother and day."

Wimmer said independent retailers have the power to free themselves and their society from dependence on big government and the means to clear up slums and juvenile delinquency. He told the story of Philadelphia which started when he met with the city's disconsolate leaders and merchants in 1947. He told them, "You are the men of Philadelphia, so if there's a slum and thieves have taken over City Hall, who is to blame for it?"

Need 'Angry Men' The businessmen, he said, formed a group called the "Angry Men" and their success in Philadelphia was written up in 1962 Reader's Digest. "If all small towns had a group of angry men that met once a week we wouldn't have to look to Washington," Wimmer declared.

He spoke of the renovating power of basic improvements in light and color in small stores. Wimmer said the NFIB had waged a color and light campaign throughout the country and found, "It does wonders to bring people into stores."

He also reminded the meeting of the "little courtesies that make so much difference in the success of a business." He spoke of the importance of entrances, saying "Doors can be the worst advertisement if they are beat up and unattractive."

Wimmer had a word of praise for Appleton. "Modernization seems to be in the air in this city," he observed. The retailers' convention closed today after a morning business session, afternoon tour of Kimberly-Clark Lakeview Mill and a 4:30 p.m. buffet.

Vandals Damage $278 In Sears Merchandise

Officials of the Sears Roebuck Co., 312 W. College Ave., reported to Appleton police that vandals damaged merchandise valued at $278 by using a razor blade to slash inner linings of several coats sometime Saturday.

The damage was discovered when a customer tried on one of the coats and reported the damage to the store. A survey produced other items similarly damaged. The Treasure Island firm on W. College Avenue reported similar damage last week to clothing on its display racks.

Governor Gives Approval To Regional Projects Bill

Sponsored by Planning Group,
Law Permits Governmental
Units to Cooperate by Contract

MADISON — Gov. Warren Knowles today signed into law a planning commission is the bill permitting adjoining municipalities to join in regional projects by a contract.

The bill, sponsored by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, lays the groundwork for governmental units to cooperate in providing any governmental service or facility, including bonding powers and powers of eminent domain.

It leaves details to the local group of financing the contracts as well as the form of representation to administer them.

The struggle to pass the bill took more than a year after an earlier attempt failed. Proponents of the measure started action when they learned existing statutes were inadequate to allow local municipalities to establish Stroebe Island as a regional park.

The proposed park area has since been subdivided.

The measure had the support of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities and the Legislative Council. Proponents of the measure obtained the approval of the council's urban problems committee and the council itself before introducing the measure in the Assembly.

The bill encountered objections from private utilities in the Assembly. Several conferences were held before a compromise amendment was reached, eliminating the utilities' objections that the bill would allow sponsorship of utility services now provided by private corporations.

After passage by the Assembly, the bill was sent to the Senate, where it was approved by the Committee on Veterans and Governmental Affairs and sent to the floor the final week in July.

At the request of Sen. Reuben LaFave (R-Oconto), acting chairman of the Highway Committee, the bill was referred to that committee. LaFave introduced an amendment banning road projects from the bill.

Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) and LaFave worked out a compromise amendment included in the bill which requires approval of the State Highway Commission as well as the county highway committees of involved counties for any joint road projects.

Charge 7 Motorists With Tipsy Driving

Three Men Plead Guilty, Fined
In Outagamie, Winnebago Courts

Area police over the weekend arrested six motorists and charged them with driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Two were in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today and pleaded guilty to charges and paid fines of $175.

Four others face court hearings later this week, and a seventh motorist was fined $175 and costs in court today when he withdrew an innocent plea and pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence on June 13.

Fined today were Wayne H. Koester, 42, 621 E. Fremont St., Anthony H. VerVoort, 30, 415 S. Monroe St., Little Chute, and Byron E. Huebner, 23, 2006 Irish Road, Neenah.

Hits Pole, Sign, Light Koester was charged after he struck a signal light on S. Oneida Street, turned onto E. South River Street to Lawe Street where he struck a stop sign and then hit a telephone pole on S. Lawe Street where he came to a stop.

Kimberly police estimated that VerVoort's car was responsible for over $2,500 damages to street signs and lawn and homes in the 100 block of N. Washington Street about 11 p.m. Sunday.

VerVoort's car left N. Washington Street, hit a fire hydrant, a highway sign, a telephone pole, a lawn lamp, a tree, a home at 138 N. Washington Street, then veered off, hit another tree and came to rest against a home at 134 N. Washington St.

VerVoort escaped injury, police said, but his car was demolished.

Held Overnight Koester tested 25 on a breathalyzer examination and VerVoort tested 16. Readings of .15 are generally regarded as evidence of intoxication. Both were held overnight in the Outagamie County jail and both were released after paying fines this morning.

Huebner was arrested on W. College Avenue by Appleton police and pleaded innocent to the charge. Trial had been set for today, but he withdrew his innocent plea and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Others charged over the weekend and facing hearings later this week are James M. Green, 21, 619 N. Morrison St.,

Child Playing With Matches Sets Fire to Bed Linen, Mattress

A 6-year-old child playing with matches and a charcoal starter in her home was responsible for setting fire to a mattress and bed clothes at 1412 1/2 N. Appleton St., Sunday.

Firemen said today the fire was the 11th started by young children playing with matches this year.

An off-duty fireman, Gene Day, and a neighbor, Robert Hiles, extinguished the fire and carried the mattress into the yard, before firemen arrived.

Chicago Youth Accidentally Shot Near Iola

Knee Shattered In Target Practice Incident Saturday

WAUPACA — A 17-year-old Chicago youth is reported in satisfactory condition at a Madison Hospital after he was accidentally shot in the right knee by another 17-year-old Saturday afternoon four miles east of Iola.

Erick H. Perplis, the injured youth, was target shooting with four other Chicago youths when he was wounded. John Verbeeck told Waupaca County Under-sheriff William Mork he though he had the 22 caliber pistol pointed at the ground when it discharged. The bullet entered Perplis' knee and shattered the bone, Mork said.

The Chicago youths arrived in the Iola area earlier in the day and had planned to camp on property owned by Perplis' father. Perplis was first taken to the Iola Hospital and then transferred to Madison.

The shooting has been listed as accidental, Mork said. Verbeeck was released after questioning.

Major Crime Rate Rising In Madison

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major crime rate in Madison, Wis., showed an increase in most categories in the first six months of 1965 compared with the same period last year, but Milwaukee had a decrease in all classifications.

On a nationwide basis, violent crimes increased five per cent, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Sunday.

The report includes only cities with more than 100,000 population.

Madison had no murder or non-negligent manslaughter reported in the first half of either 1965 or 1964. Robbery cases dropped to 6, compared with 21 in the first six months of 1964. Three forcible rape cases were reported, compared with none in the same period last year.

Other Madison cases, listing 1965 figures first: aggravated assault, 12 and 6; burglary, breaking or entering, 263 and 173; larceny $50 and over, 290 and 289, and auto theft, 115 and 91.

Milwaukee had 8 cases of murder or non-negligent manslaughter in the January through June period of 1965, compared with 13 in 1964; forcible rape 12 in 1965 and 31 in 1964; robbery, 96 and 119; aggravated assault, 204 and 218; burglary, breaking or entering, 1,070 and 1,145; larceny $50 and over, 1,778 and 1,834, and auto theft 1,233 and 1,381.

Two local residents, both employees of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., have applied to serve on the Appleton Water Commission.

They are E. V. Krueger, former alderman and school board member, Edward R. Koerschner, former city engineer at Hartford and resident here since 1957.

Los Angeles Mayor, Police Blame State Patrol for Riot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty and Police Chief William H. Parker agreed today that it was law officers' mishandling which touched off the Watts riots.

But both blamed the California Highway Patrol, not the much-criticized Los Angeles force.

California highway patrolmen made the arrest which triggered the riots Aug. 11. Parker said on NBC's "Meet the Press" Sunday.

"I believe that if our officers had made this arrest which brought the beginning of this riot, this riot would not have occurred," said Parker.

Bad Judgment

In Los Angeles, Yorty said bad judgment by the patrolmen, possibly the result of inadequate training, set off the riots.

"Their conduct in such an area under such circumstances indicated a lack of awareness of the dangerous potentialities inherent in the situation," Yorty said.

Village to Sign Kindergarten Class Wednesday

LITTLE CHUTE — Parents of kindergarten students at the State Graded School who specified preference for their child to attend morning classes last spring are to bring their child to school between 9 and 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Those who specified afternoon classes or no preference are to bring children between 1 and 3 p.m. Wednesday. Room assignments will be made and health and dental records checked.

First regular day of classes will be Thursday.

Upper grade students at the school are to use the Grand Avenue entrance while primary students are to use the Monroe Street entrance to the building. Robert Nechodom, chief of police, asked parents of kindergarten children to accompany their child to classes the first few days as each year some small children become lost and confused and police have difficulty finding where the youngsters belong.

Bayfield Boy Loses Bus Ticket; Police Lend Money for Show

A young teen-ager, stranded in Appleton when he lost his bus ticket back home to Bayfield, Wis., turned himself in to Appleton police Saturday night and was promptly sent to the gravest assault, 204 and 218; burglary, breaking or entering, 1,070 and 1,145; larceny $50 and over, 1,778 and 1,834, and auto theft 1,233 and 1,381.

Michael Deragon asked permission to spend several hours at the police station while waiting for his mother to pick him up to take him home. He estimated he would have to wait about six hours.

Police authorized the permission, but suggested the youth take in a movie. When he said he only had 50 cents, he was loaned a matching half dollar, enough to buy a ticket.

Several hours later the youth returned to the station and was met by his mother after a short wait.

After paying his debt, the youth thanked police and left.

New Books

Author's Brief Version Of Great War Ended

The Appleton Public Library has received more than 30 new books to start an enjoyable fall reading program.

Among them is "The Great War 1914-1918" by John Terraine.

Terraine's version of the first "German War" and of the character of Germany holds up well in the current spate of books on the subject and is both brief and complete.

What Germany knew, right from 1888 when the Kaiser Street entered to the throne, was that the inevitable war would have to be fought on two fronts.

Little could the German military leaders have dreamed what would happen. From the War's outbreak there was not a single ameliorating truce or conference. Men died between the lines and hospital ships were sunk. Poison gas floated over Ypres in a blue-white cloud.

Civilians without regard to sex or age were starved or murdered. At the very least 12,000,000 lives were lost. And all because the Kaiser had a mystical dream of German supremacy and liked to wear uniforms.

If this seems too simple a view, it should be remembered that the War was in preparation for a quarter of a century and that Germany had had a secret alliance with Austria since 1879. During that time Kaiser Wilhelm II, as did Hitler later, became the victim of his own dreams.

This is a straightforward view by an English historian which is vividly implemented by some 300 photographs.

"The American Roulette" by Donald Young deals with the problems of the office of Vice President.

Functions Not Sepled Out

The constitution does not spell out the vice president's functions. First, it was used as a roost for deserving party stalwarts, especially if there was a possibility that they could provide geographical balance to a ticket.

Now, all the historic problems are still unresolved. For instance, what to do about the incapacitated President? The worry dates from Wilson's time, but reared again during the Eisenhower illnesses.

In addition to the discussion of the various problems that have attached to this office, the book is good collective biography. It talks, with gossip candor, about all the men who have held or who have (however reluctantly) run for this undesirable post.

Serious Subject

It is a one-volume source of proof about how lucky we have been in the new presidents who succeeded to the Presidency as well as how lucky we have been in the ones who didn't. The subject is serious and the author is often amusing.

Other new books include "Storm Tide" by Allan Ross, "The Case of the Grand Alliance" by Christopher Bush, "In the Sun" by Jon Godden, "Waiting for a Tiger" by Ben Healy, "Wilderness of Monkeys" by Paige Mitchell, "The

State Seeks Additional Land for High Cliff Park

Offer to Buy More Than 150 Acres From Norbert Schwabenlander, Leo Zahringer

MADISON — Jurisdictional Norbert Schwabenlander, route offers have been made for two 2, Hilbert, and a 65-acre parcel belonging to Leo Zahringer, route 1, Menasha, located on the east side of the park, are being sought for park expansion today.

An 89-acre area owned by Edward Faber, supervisor of land, for the Parks and Recreation Division of the department, told The Post-Crescent that if the purchase offer of the department is not accepted within 20 days after the property owner receives it, condemnation proceedings are begun.

Two Appleton Men Secure Device Patents

Two Appleton men, Erwin W. Zick, 918 E. Frances St., and Robert E. Taggart, 537 N. Union St., have been granted U.S. patents.

Zick secured a patent on a device designed to raise the grass along the margin of a lawn so that it may be trimmed.

The device, a vertically re-use area of the park, the tract ciprovable, twisted, triangular would provide land for a sewage blade, may be used with both line necessary for the shelter rotary and reel type mowers. A building Part of the land also conveniently located knob controls the position of blade and retracts it when not needed to raise the grass to cutting level.

Taggart has designed a method of making a carton for frozen foods which is lined with an attached heat-sealable film material. When filled and sealed, the carton is essentially leakproof and airtight.

The carton is made from a single foldable blank of paper-board and can be formed with automatic machinery. The patent has been assigned to American Can Co. by whom Taggart is employed.

The land is necessary for a buffer zone, as it is near the major entrance road to the area, running west from State 55. Part of the Zahringer tract would also be used for the new camp grounds, Faber indicated.

Now 500 Acres

The park currently comprises about 500 acres, Faber said. The two tracts would provide more than 150 additional acres.

Purchase offers are not made public, Faber said that if the offer was refused, the Calumet County Court would set up a three-man commission, which County Court Branch 2 to a would award a price to the charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Trial was set for Sept. 27 and Mason any future purchases the department is planning for the park, which has been the site of on in the 700 block of W Prospect Ave. Aug. 22.

Little Other Action Planned by Congress Before Long Weekend; October Adjournment Possible

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may reach final agreement this week on a bill to create a new Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Otherwise the House and Senate planned to take up little of consequence, looking ahead instead to a long Labor Day weekend.

The slow week junks once and for all earlier hopes for adjournment by Labor Day. Although the Democratic leadership still speaks of possibly winding up the year's work by mid-September, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says he expects Congress still to be here in October.

Only two bills were listed on the Senate's published "program ahead." One deals with a claims agreement with Canada and the other with public lands in Florida.

Nothing Major
The House schedule listed nothing to stir up a major fuss. It includes bills dealing with federal aid for schools in disaster areas, the sale or loan of surplus naval vessels to friendly foreign nations, implementation of an agreement with Canada to drop tariffs on automotive products, and research in high-speed ground transportation.

Final action may be taken in both branches on the compromise bill to give the cities a place in the President's Cabinet.

Major House interest will center on a move to force a vote on a Senate-passed bill to provide a form of home rule for residents of the District of Columbia. The drive started last week with filing of a petition which, signed by 218 members, would pry the bill from the District Committee and bring it to the floor for a vote. The petition has only 163 signatures so far.

On the committee level, the spotlight in the Senate is on a bill to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act — the provision which allows states to prohibit agreements that require employees to join a union. The Senate Labor Committee

Governors Role Brings Scott, Goldwater Spat

Top Republicans Disagree on Center Of Party's Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott crossed swords today with Barry Goldwater over the importance of Republican governors to the GOP cause.

Republican governors, said Scott, have become "the greatest single source of strength and vitality" in the party. The Pennsylvania, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, expressed his views in a prepared Senate speech as the tempo of Republican politics picked up.

First National Chairman Ray Bliss called the 27-member policy committee into session to approve task force reports on civil rights and the balance of payments.

Second, the 17 Republican governors, headed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, planned to open a headquarters in Washington.

Special Faction
Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate in 1964, said in a newspaper column Aug. 11 that the governors intend to "represent the views of a special faction of the Republican party."

"We must look to the Congress for Republican policy," wrote Goldwater, a former Republican senator from Arizona. Obviously taking issue with this view, Scott said the Republican governors are providing at the state level "a strong nucleus of."

Set Up Housekeeping

Aquanauts View Sea From 205 Feet Down

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Ten aquanauts finish setting up their housekeeping today for their 45-day endurance test in Sealab 2, 205 feet below the Pacific Ocean surface.

Then they'll swim out to help hook up a communications and data-gathering unit on the side of their undersea trailer.

"Our views of marine life are tremendously exciting," team leader M. Scott Carpenter reported to the surface Sunday.

"Visibility down here is much greater than we had hoped for," he said. "We should be extremely successful with our marine biology experiments."

Unusually clear water now surrounds the undersea craft, giving the aquanauts 60 to 70 feet visibility, a Navy spokesman said.

Murky Water
"During preliminary dives, the water was so murky, they could see only about 20 feet," he said.

The divers descended Saturday to their 12 x 58-foot steel cylinder on the ocean floor 1,000 yards from this Southern California resort. They wore skin-diving gear.

Using underwater breathing apparatus, they later swam to a rocket-shaped personnel transport.

Social-Data Study Experiment

Watts-Area Riots Predicted By Aerospace Techniques

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Space engineers working on a pioneer contract said today they had pinpointed the Watts section of Los Angeles as violence-prone before recent riots smashed the area.

Their report backed up what social experts in many fields had foretold without avail prior to the several days' rampage that left 36 dead, almost 1,000 injured, more than 4,000 jailed and millions in damage.

The report was unique in that Space-General Corp. had put California crime under a six-month laboratory test by techniques of data processing normally used to advance man's conquest of space.

of decision makers and action takers around which we can rebuild and strengthen our par-

"Tough space engineers," said Gov. Edmund G. Brown said in making the report public, found "that the burdens of crime, school dropouts, low income, dense population weighed more heavily on the Watts area than on any other section of Los Angeles."

"It is a clear warning," Brown remarked, "that we must move to find jobs for people in areas like Watts; to improve the schools; and to wipe out the other roots of crime."

The governor called the study, financed from $100,000 in state funds, "the first attempt anywhere in the United States to apply aerospace methods to social problems." The "unique experiment," he added, "is an unqualified success."

The Democratic chief executive initiated the study and Friday, five days after he was three others last year, in a two-fold quest for imaginative answers to problems of the nation's most populous state and economic help for firms in the Poellnitz and Col. Al Lingo, key aerospace industry hit by state public safety director, said government contract cutbacks.

The computers and "systems felt Long, 21, had admitted the engineering" employed by the attack on Smaw in a signed engineers reported California statement. Long, who was ar-faces a sharp crime problem rested for questioning during that will grow worse. That the week, gave no motive, they didn't come as much of a surprise to police — but the 269-page study went into great detail, recommending a five-year, $122-million program to overhaul the state's criminal justice system.

Brown, saying the report contained national implications, was not a civil rights leader.

Electrodes On Head
Four men who had electrodes attached to their heads prior to descent plugged them into black boxes to record their brain waves Sunday.

The test was the first of a series scientists will conduct to see whether wave patterns vary due to living and working at pressure six times that of sea level.

Saturday night Carpenter talked by radiophone with astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. in the then-orbiting Gemini 5 spacecraft.

Carpenter wished safe re-entry to Cooper and his partner, Charles Conrad Jr., adding, "looks like our mission will be a success." Carpenter, a Navy commander, is a veteran of both space and deep sea probes.

Constantine Might Establish Coalition

Greek King Ready to Appeal To All After Fall of Tsirimokos

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — In-role in the parliamentary dedications mounted today that Constantine might try to named by Constantine since the form a coalition government in king fired him in a dispute over an effort to find a way out of politics in the army.

Greece's political crisis.

The 25-year-old monarch was reported ready to appeal to all political factions to help him now that Parliament has brought down the second government he tried to form since the crisis began July 15.

The 9-day government of Eli Tsirimokos was defeated 159-135 in a confidence vote Sunday. Tsirimokos went to the royal palace Sunday night to hand in his resignation.

After almost two hours with the king, the 58-year-old Socialist told newsmen Constantine would once again try to form a government out of Parliament's ranks.

Accepted By 300
Tsirimokos said the next government would have to be accepted by all 300 members of Parliament — indicating the king was contemplating a coalition regime.

Such a plan might run into opposition from former Premier George Papandreou, 77-year-old leader of the Center Union party and chief antagonist of the king. Papandreou has said he would not accept any coalition unless he headed it and his party ran it.

Giants Take Over Second In NL Race

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The gopher ball is putting the Milwaukee Braves in a hole.

The Chicago Cubs orbited five homers Sunday for a 10-2 victory over the fourth-place Braves that dropped them 2½ games off the National League lead with their sixth consecutive defeat.

And the gopher ball has proved the Braves' undoing in all six games. During that stretch the opposition has scored 31 runs — 23 coming on 12 homers.

Billy O'Dell got the streak off served up a two-run, two-out ninth inning homer to Tommy Harper Tuesday night that gave Cincinnati a 3-2 victory, then came back Wednesday and served up a three-run, two-out ninth inning homer to Tony Perez that gave the Reds a 7-4 victory. Frank Robinson also homered in the game.

The Reds finished their homer hammering Thursday when Deron Johnson hit a two-run shot and Gordy Coleman a solo blast for a 3-1 triumph. Then the Cubs came in to Milwaukee and Billy Williams took over at the launching pad.

Grand Slam

Williams hit a grand slam Friday as the Cubs won 5-3, then smashed a two-run shot in Saturday's 3-1 victory before winding up the weekend with a solo homer. He left the heavy

Nicknamed 'Big Poison'

Hall of Famer Paul Waner Dead at 62

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Paul (Big Poison) Waner, member of baseball's Hall of Fame and pound for pound one of the greatest players in the history of the game, is dead at 62.

Waner, nicknamed Big Poison because at 153 he weighed three pounds more than his brother, Lloyd (Little Poison), died at his home here Sunday. He had been in failing health for several years and underwent surgery last March, but cause of death was not announced.

The Waner brothers played with the Pittsburgh Pirates for many years and formed one of the most famous brother combinations in baseball, starring both infield and at the plate.

"Pound for pound, Paul was the greatest," said his close friend, Heinie Manush, also a Hall of Famer. "I knew him since 1927. What a great guy he was!"

Waner was also an outstanding golfer and won the National Baseball Players' Golf Championship in 1938, beating Babe Ruth in the finals.

After he retired from baseball, Paul settled in Sarasota and his golfing partner was Manush, a former star with Washington and Cleveland.

"Beat Me Anytime"

"Play in and day out, Waner could beat me any time he wanted to," Manush recalled. "He had great coordination and was a real good putter. I called him One Putt. He still had a beautiful swing, but he couldn't hit the ball very far in the last few months of his life."

Another close friend was Derringer, Cincinnati Reds star hit as the cobb the boys used to

Vande Wetering's Homer Leads Freedom Past Fond du Lac

4-3 Victory Decides Championship of Fox Valley League

FREEDOM—Jim Vande Wetering socked a 2-run home run in the eighth inning to lead Freedom to a 4-3 victory over Fond du Lac for the championship of the Fox River Valley Baseball League here Sunday afternoon.

The win was the second for Freedom in the best-of-three series for the league crown.

Vande Wetering's blow, which followed a lead-off walk to Bob Maulick actually gave Freedom a 4-1 lead at the time, but Fond du Lac rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth before winning pitcher Larry Huebner was able to retire the side.

First Tally

Freedom scored single runs in the third and fifth innings for a 2-0 lead which held up until the eighth when Fond du Lac scored its first tally.

Huebner went the distance for Freedom and fanned four batters while walking three. His mates back him up with good defensive work as Freedom committed only one miscue.

Dave Reamer was the starter and loser for Fond du Lac and Gene Klapperich came in for relief work late in the game.

Mike Vanden Heuvel doubled home the first run for the winners and Lee Westphal's double, one of three hits he had in the game, set up the second tally in the fifth. Vande Wetering's blast in the eighth capped the Freedom scoring after the victors had threatened by loading the bases in the seventh but failed to score.

Fond du Lac scored its run in the eighth on a walk, infield out, passed ball and sacrifice fly. Tom Heimerl doubled home the two tallies in the top of the ninth after Bill Koenen had walked and Dick Richter was safe on an error. Another walk put Red Sox runners at first and second and an infield out left basemen at first and third with two out. Huebner then got Mike Haberkorn to pop to the mound to end the game.

Braves Acquire Haddix; Call Up Alomar, Olivo

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Braves announced today they have purchased pitcher Harvey Haddix from Baltimore for an undisclosed amount.

Haddix, who has a 3-2 record with the American League team this year, pitched a perfect no-hitter against the Braves for 12 innings on May 26, 1959, but was beaten 1-0 in the 13th inning. He was hurling for Pittsburgh.

The Braves also recalled pitcher Chi Chi Olivo and infielder Santos Alomar from their Atlanta club in the International League.

Milwaukee Faces Reds In 4 Games

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The torn and tattered Milwaukee Braves, their pitching and fielding in disarray, their attack feeble, journey to Cincinnati Tuesday for a four-game series they cannot afford to lose.

"This one is the real big one," said Manager Bobby Bragan after the Chicago Cubs crushed the Braves 10-2 Sunday to extend the Milwaukee losing streak to six games—the longest of the season.

"I think we're going to come out of it in Cincinnati," Bragan said.

"We're just fortunate we're still in the thick of it after going into that unfortunate slump," he added.

Bragan refused to rap his pitching staff for the losing streak. "Thirteen runs in six days," he said. "A pitcher has got to pitch a shutout or a one run game to win and no pitching staff can stand that kind of pressure."

Despite Nosedive

Milwaukee, only two and one half games out of first place despite the nosedive, have managed to beat the Red Sox only four times in 14 games so far this season. It was the Reds who started the Braves on their losing streak by taking the final three games in a four-game set last week.

For the sixth straight game, it was the home run ball, the Braves' favorite weapon, that led to the defeat. The Cubs' hit five of them, including two each by Ernie Banks and Ron Santo, to account for nine runs.

The other Chicago run scored when the usually dependable Frank Bolling made two successive errors at second base in the second inning.

The Braves, held to seven hits by hypnotist Bill Paul, managed one run on a Bolling homer and another on a single by Hank Aaron after a Mack Jones' double.

Drew Three Walks

For the third straight day, Billy Williams connected for the Cubs. He also drew three walks and scored four runs.

Neither Williams nor Santo were counting the Braves out. "I don't think the nails are in the coffin at all for that ball

George, Jeff Rushton Win State Closed Tennis Titles

Appleton's Rushtons scored a rare father-son tennis "double" Sunday in the Wisconsin closed tournament, held in Wauwatosa.

George Rushton won the state senior veterans title, while Jeff took the honors in the boys 18-and-under division. George defeated Milwaukee's Harry Jens, 6-2 and 7-5, in the finals.

Jeff rallied to beat Milwaukee's John Warmbold, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1.

Menasha's Kevin Conway lost to Milwaukee's Greg Kail, 8-6, 6-8 and 6-4, in the finals of the boys 16-and-under class.

Vilas Ckins beat Tom Oberlin, 7-5, 6-2, to win the men's singles crown. Ellen Friedlander stopped Andrea Western, 6-3, 6-2, in the girls' final.

'Cowboys Good,' Lombardi Says

Lombardi, who spend Sunday evening viewing game films, with his aides, reported, "We made more mental errors than anything else."

"The Cowboys are a good football team, but we made a lot of mental errors, not a lot but enough to beat us," he added.

Commenting on the Pack's "fourth-and-one" failure in the fourth quarter, when Jim Taylor was jolted for a one-yard loss by all-pro Bob Lilly with 18:21 remaining, Lombardi said, "that happened because of a missed block."

Of two other damaging items, third and fourth quarter interceptions (one of which triggered the Cowboys' go-ahead touchdown), he said, "Starr threw one away, or tried, and on the other one he didn't see one (Cowboy). I guess."

Lombardi reduced the roster

Colts to Get Billy Lothridge From Dallas

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts of the National Football League will receive Billy Lothridge and a future draft choice from the Dallas Cowboys for lineman Ralph Neely.

Neely was the Colts' second draft choice last fall, but he wanted to play for a team in the Southwest. The Colts traded bargaining rights to the Cowboys, who outbid the Houston Oilers of the American Football League for Neely.

The Colts and Cowboys agreed on completion of the deal during the weekend.

Dallas Victory Rated Squad's Most Important

Colin Ridgway Major Contributor With His Kicking

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys won their most important victory in six years of professional football Saturday night when they beat the heralded Green Bay Packers 21-12 in an exhibition game.

Making a major contribution was a tall Australian named Colin Ridgway, who earned a modicum of fame as a seven-foot high jumper but was only a rookie trying to hang on the gridiron.

He knew about football, but it was the Australian kind, played in his teens in Melbourne. But he didn't even know how to hold the ball to kick in pro football.

He still didn't look like a kicker Saturday night when Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys sent him in on the basis of one punt he made in a game with San Francisco at Portland a week ago. It was for 48 yards.

Standing Start

Ridgway never kicked from a standing start until the Cowboys taught him the steps. He comes down on the front foot — the one he kicks with — and goes up higher off the ground than any other punter. His left goes into the air after his right and stays there longer.

The guy is a real novice at kicking. But then there is the question of height and distance, the most important parts of punting anyway. Ridgway booted the ball eight times Saturday night and averaged 42.5 yards although he had one that sliced off his foot and carried only 15 yards.

His kicks are high and lazy, and the opposing safety either has to signal for a fair catch or run the risk of being beheaded. The Packers were able to return four punts a total of 20 yards. They fair-caught the other four. Ridgway had a 56-yarder, a 52, a 50 and a 48 in his collection.

Ridgway appeared to have made the team. After the game, Dallas announced it had traded Billy Lothridge, who has been doing the kicking, to Baltimore.

Ridgway attended Lamar Tech in Beaumont, Tex., where he high-jumped 7 feet, one-half inch but did not participate in any other sport. He was the first Texas collegian to reach seven feet in the high jump.

The 6-foot-5, 211-pound Aussie was just another link in the chain that makes Dallas a strong football team at last.

Last year there was a great need for a punter and place-kicker. There also was the need for a running back to augment Don Perkins.

Ridgway can drop-kick a football 50 yards, but he is being trained to place-kick because drop-kicking is considered too erratic.

Chicago Closes Gap to 6½ Laps; Howard, Gibbs Pace Yanks' Win

By MURRAY CHASS

scoring the winning run in the 12th when Brooks Robinson threw wildly on Ken Hamlin's single. Washington had tied 1-1 in the sixth on a walk to Jim Hansen, Chicago's busy shortstop set a major league record with his chance, while helping homer brought Detroit's four the White Sox dropped to three in game losing streak to an end the American League pennant and extended Fred Newman's losing string to six Newman.

The White Sox swept a pair of forced in a first inning run by 2-2 games from Boston Sunday hitting Willie Horton with the and moved to within 6½ games of league-leading Minnesota which led to Cleveland 3-1.

Hansen had a total of 18 assists and putouts in the 14th inning and 10 in the second game, tying the old record for a first top in a doubleheader of 20 established by Arky Vaughan of Pittsburgh in 1930.

His first game total also tied the AL mark for an extra-inning game shared by four other players.

Besides catching and throwing everything he could grab the 27-year-old veteran found time to flash a double in the opener that set up the winning run.

Won 15, Lost 4

The double victory certainly enhanced whatever chance the White Sox may have for overhauling Minnesota. They, or anyone else, were given virtually no chance two weeks ago.

But since Aug. 13 Chicago has won 15 games and lost only four while the Twins have been 9-8. As a result the White Sox have stormed from fifth place, 11½ games out, to second, 6½ out.

Chicago's biggest opportunity will come in the five games remaining with Minnesota. The teams start a three-game series at Minnesota this Friday and complete their head-to-head battle Sept. 8 and 9 at Chicago.

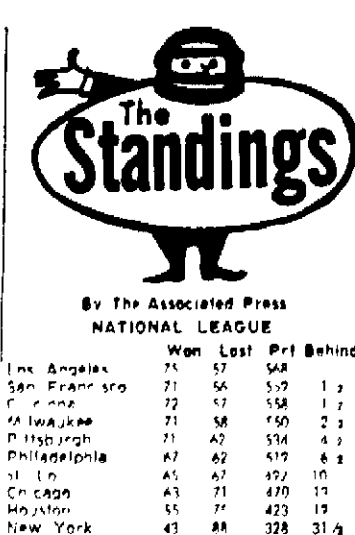

In other games Sunday Detroit edged Los Angeles 2-1, Washington nipped Baltimore 4-1 in 12 innings and New York halted Kansas City's four-game winning streak 4-3.

Hansen's key double in the 13th inning of the first game put Al Weis on third from where he scored after a walk to Ken Berry, on J.C. Martin's sacrifice fly.

Danny Cater's run-scoring single in the seventh inning won the nightcap. Don Buford hit a two-run Chicago homer in the first inning while Tony Horton and Rico Petrocelli connected.

The Vikings had placed Mc for Boston in the second. Rookie pitcher Steve Hargan and when nobody in the NFL halted repeated Minnesota claimed him they signed him to threats in the first six innings a 1966 contract and planned to The Twins got 10 runners in retain him on their taxi squad scoring position in that time, McClelland then was traded to but only one — Zoulo Versalles the Giants for what a Minnesota — made it home. Fred Whitfield spokesman said was a middle-drove in two Cleveland runs round draft choice with a sacrifice fly and a single.

New York snapped its scoreless string at 21 innings and less strong at 21 innings and went on to defeat the Athletics hammered two homers and add behind home runs by Elston and two singles for a 4-for-4 per-Howard and Jake Gibbs. Al Ioumaire leading Chicago to a just five hits and struck out 12 10-2 victory over Milwaukee. The Senators downed Baltimore that handed the fourth place more for the sixth straight time. Braves their sixth straight loss.

Cleveland Browns Roll To Fourth Straight Win; Minnesota Cops

Jim Brown Stars In 28-14 Victory Over Detroit Lions

By DICK COUCH

Cleveland's National Football League champions have been wrecking the West in pre-season play — which means nothing but trouble for the East when the Browns open their title defense next month.

With big Jim Brown playing part time — but producing the same devastating results — and scoring position with a 56-yard reception in their victory over New York.

Colts' Szymanski Fractures Forearm

BALTIMORE (AP) — Center Dick Szymanski of the Baltimore Colts suffered a hairline fracture of the left forearm in Oakland in the third period of Saturday night's 38-10 exhibition game.

A Colt spokesman said Sunday it was undetermined how long Szymanski, starting his 10th National Football League season, would be out of action.

Geiberger Wins Classic by 4

Palmer Birdies Last Hole for Runnerup Spot and $12,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Al Geiberger didn't need any peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to capture the $100,000 American Golf Classic Sunday. But he took them along and ate, any way.

Geiberger took a five stroke lead into the final round and although he shot a two-over par 35-37—72 no one offered a challenge as the tin man won his first major tournament and pocketed the top prize of $20,000.

Geiberger, 6-foot-2½, said he has dropped to 155 pounds. The winds which buffeted the Firestone course during the first three rounds failed to ruffle him as he finished the 72 holes at an even par 280.

Bobby Nichols, second to Geiberger as the final round opened, had a 36-40—76 and a 289 total to drop into a fifth place tie with Johnny Pott. Tony Lema and Jack Rule Jr.

Arnold Palmer opened the day one stroke behind Nichols. He shot a 36-34—70 and 284 and he had the final hole to finish second and add $12,000 to his bankroll.

Jackie Cupit took third with a 33-35—68 and 285, earning $6,000. Bob Charney had a 33-37—70 for 286 and fourth money of $3,000.

Geiberger, who has a pattern of skipping every fourth tournament because "I'm just not strong enough," revealed his peanut butter and jelly time while being questioned about his obvious lack of stamina.

5 Grid Deaths Reported in Last 4 Days

Texas Player, 17, Dies of Ruptured Blood Vessel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a 17-year-old high school player in San Antonio, Tex., has raised the toll of football fatalities to five in the past four days.

Cruz Medellin, who collapsed after a tackling drill last Friday at Lanier High School, died Sunday in a San Antonio hospital. A blood vessel had ruptured at the base of the youngster's brain.

A college sophomore and three schoolboys died during practice sessions Thursday and Friday.

The death of John C. Devlin, 19-year-old fullback at South Carolina State College, Orangeburg, S.C., was attributed to sunstroke. Heat prostration also claimed David Toynbee, 15, of Atlanta, after a Forest Park High School scrimmage in 100-degree temperature.

Art Willis, 17, of Las Cruces, N.M., High School, got up after being tackled in a drill and started back in the huddle but collapsed and was dead on arrival at a Las Cruces hospital.

Edgar R. Fouts, 15, died at a Sioux City hospital from head injuries suffered in tackling practice at West Monona High School, Oonawa, Iowa.

Shamrock, Northside Lose in Menasha Test

Neenah's Frank-Pat's Advance on 8-7 Win Over Appleton '9'

MENASHA—Two Fox Cities teams were eliminated in the fourth annual Menasha Athletic Association Softball Tournament here Sunday.

Frank & Pat's Pizza of Neenah held on to claim an 8-7 decision over Northside Advancement of Appleton while Shamrock Bar of Kaukauna dropped a hard-fought, 3-1 verdict to Lom's Bar of Green Bay.

Piggly Wiggly of Oshkosh bowed to Van's Limited of Green Bay, 4-1, while B & B Tap, also of Oshkosh, outscored Esquire Bar of Green Bay, 2-0.

Swan Club, De Pere, earned a forfeit win over Magnaw Electric of Racine when the latter failed to make an appearance.

Frank & Pat's held an 8-4 lead over Northside Advancement after two innings but was blanked on three hits by reliever Dick Lundgren the rest of the way. Starter Arlyn Pies was the loser.

Jerry Plamann topped the losers with two hits. Len Adams had three for Frank & Pat's.

Ron Rumlow of B-B and Esquire's Dick Douville matched two-hitters, but the Oshkosh team scored two runs in the second on an error, two walks and a couple of wild pitches.

Shamrock posted an 8 to 4 advantage over Lom's but only scored once in the second. Dewey Sheets gained the win in relief of Mark Last. Gary McGee was the loser.

Gary Wiegman and Guy Senso each had two hits for Shamrock.

Van's scored all of its runs in the fourth in topping Piggly Wiggly. Ron Holmes allowed six hits in pitching the victory. Harry Boushele took the loss.

Play will continue with five games Saturday and four each Sunday and Monday.

Appletonian Wins Motorcycle Title

FOND DU LAC (AP)—Jerry Baer of Appleton captured the Wisconsin men's motorcycle championship Sunday, with Lyle Sharer of Madison second and Chuck Felton of Beloit third. Baer rode a BSA, finishing in 5:10.32 for the ten laps over the half-mile fairgrounds track.

Defensive Capt. Hank Gremminger, making his first competitive appearance since suffering a leg injury Aug. 2, "did very well," he observed in this connection. "So did Hart (Doug) and Jeter (Bob)," who are contending for the retired Jesse Whittenton's left cornerback post.

He also indicated the night's proceedings had brought him to one conclusion. "You saw our kicker out there (Chandler)," he said. "He kicks them short and he kicks them long—and he's accurate."

The defeat, it was suggested, might have been a blessing in disguise. "I don't know if it is or not," Lombardi said, a trifle morosely. "I never like to lose."

"This may indicate to people, however, that our team isn't as good as they think it is. But," he rapped with a significant lift of the Roman chin, "we will have a good one before we're through."

Buy heating oil in summer?

There's a good reason.

If you let your oil supply run low in hot weather, you run the risk of condensation in your oil tank. Condensation opens the door to corrosion and rust.

Fill'er up—right now—with Texaco Fuel Chief. A full tank means there's no room for condensation... no chance for corrosion and rust to get a toehold.

And when cold weather comes, you'll be ready—with the best-quality heating oil your money can buy. You'll like our dependable service, too. Call us!

Roosevelt All-Stars Win Crown in LL Tournament

The Roosevelt Division all-tourney George Binek hurled a stars have won the champion-1-hitter, and Scott Smith and ship of the 1965 Appleton Little Mike Recker tripled off loser League tournament.

Roosevelt won the championship Sunday at Telulah park by managed the Roosevelt team, edging McKinley, 3-2, on a run coach. Players of the title team, in the bottom of the sixth and last inning, Dave Siewers was the winner, and Jeff Berksboken took the loss.

Two of the winners' six hits were triples by Siewers and Neil Hartzheim. McKinley was held to two hits.

Roosevelt was unbeaten in the tourney, having downed the McKinley all-stars (4-2) and the Linwood team (7-2) in earlier games. Dwight Mueller hurled a 2-hitter in beating McKinley's Don Werner. 4-2. Will Griffith tripled for the winners, who had six hits.

Roosevelt beat Linwood, 7-2, behind the 4-hit pitching of Jim Porlier. John Springer was the loser.

McKinley stopped Linwood, 6, 0, in the double elimination.

Symons, Davis On Waiver List

24 hours in advance of Tuesday night's first National Football League deadline by placing offensive halfback Bill Symons (Colorado) and defensive backs Wally Mahle (Syracuse) and Donnie Davis (Southern University) on waivers. No further cuts now will be required until Sept. 7, when the limit will be 43.

In his pre-picture analysis Saturday night, the Packer headmaster made a significant point in declaiming, "The Cow-boys have a good defense, but we gained more yards against them than we did in either of our first two games against the Giants and Bears."

But, he also noted by way of explaining the seeming paradox, Bart Starr goes 228 passes without an interception, then throws two in one game, which is hardly to be expected.

He admitted the Texans' three-man rush "was a little surprising, but not enough to make the difference." The offense also was hampered to a degree, Lombardi revealed, reporting "We had trouble finding an able-bodied fullback there in the second half. Junior Coffey is hurt, of course, and so was Tom Moore. And Elijah Pitts also got a severe jolt in the stomach, which slowed him up some."

Keenly Aware

The Packer major-domo also was keenly aware of the fans' role observing with a whistle, "That crowd really got behind them, didn't they? Even more so than I've ever seen one do before."

The purpose of pre-season play was not lost sight of in this time of adversity, he noted with some satisfaction. "Although we didn't play everybody, we did play most of them, including all the offensive and defensive ends. And Claridge (sophomore quarterback Dennis) played a full quarter."

work Sunday for Ernie Banks and Ron Santo, who each hit a pair and combined for eight runs batted in.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, held on to their 14-game lead, despite a 13-3 clubbing by Philadelphia as the chasers continued to hop up and down the standings.

Willie Mays hit a league record 17th homer in one month as San Francisco belted the New York Mets 8-3 and moved into second place. Cincinnati dropped to third, one percentage point behind the Giants and 1 1/2 games back of the Dodgers, after a 10-4 loss to St. Louis.

The streaking Pittsburgh Pirates climbed back to within 4 1/2 of the top by downing Houston 4-2 for their eighth victory in nine games.

Blast 5 Hurlers
The Phillies blasted five Dodger pitchers starting with Claude Osteen, 11-13, for four homers and three triples as Richie Allen collecting one of each. Alex Johnson, who wound up with four hits, Pat Corrales and Bobby Wine also homered while Dick Stuart and Tony Taylor joined the triple hitters. Ray Culp, 9-9, checked the Dodgers on five hits.

Mays broke Ralph Kiner's record for most homers in one month, and moved to within one of Rudy York's major league mark, when he hit a three-run shot that climaxed the Giants' five-run outburst in the third inning. The homer also was Mays' 41st of the season and No. 494 of his career, moving him ahead of Lou Gehrig into fifth place on the all time list.

The Cardinals got the job done against the Reds with two surges. Dick Groat keyed a five-run outburst against Sammy Ellis, 17-8, with a two-run single in the second inning and Julian Javier stroked a two-run single in a four-run fifth. Ray Sadecki, a 20-game winner for St. Louis last season, won his fourth against 11 losses.

Stargell Triples
Willie Stargell drove in the Pirates' first two runs with a triple and a single before Bill Mazeroski singled and Jim Paggiaroni doubled in the sixth inning and broke a 2-2 tie. Wilbur Wood, working in relief of Bob Friend, won his first while Don Notestadt, 4-12, lost it.

club," said Santo. And Williams, the Braves' personal scourge in series, repeated his prediction that Milwaukee would win the pennant.

The Braves were not feeling equally complimentary toward the Cubs.

"Ever since I've been in the league, they've been nothing but spoilers," said Henry Aaron.

Aaron was realistic about the Braves' situation: "Everyone individually is going to have to buckle down and take stock of themselves. It's not only the pitching. We've got to score some runs."

Henry included himself "I'm not hitting the ball," said the .324 batter.

Waupaca Unit Wins Best-Ball At Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — The Waupaca Country Club foursome, led by pro Gib Kizer, fired a best ball score of 63 to win the pro-am prelude Sunday to the Northeastern Wisconsin golf open.

Wausau was second with 64. Tied for third at 63 were Sheboygan Pine Hills, Fond du Lac South Hills, and Appleton Butte des Morts.

The medal play tourney, with Hans Fischer of Sheboygan the defending champion, began today over the par-71 Pine Hills course.

Kizer's amateur partners included Dick Johnson, Errel McPeak and Dale Simpson.

The third place Butte Des Morts team included Dan Steinberg Jr., Jim Rudolf, Tom Hayes and Jeff Martin.

Area teams with 66 were Ridgeway's Bob Beloy (pro), Tom Hadley, Harley Luker and Herb Stinski Sr.; BDM No. 2 including Ted Bourne (pro), Don Strutz, Don Jabas and Tom Timmers and Oshkosh Country Club's Fred Henckle (pro), Dick Hoffmaster, Les Perry and Joe Koller.

Fox Valley, including Don Erdman (pro), Earl Schuler, Bob Derrus and Rich Quella, and BDM's No. 3 team of John Hayes, R. A. Martin, Karl Baldwin and Russ Lakey, totaled 70.

Maritime Unions Expected to Okay New Pact Quickly

Agreement Ends 75-Day Strike
In East and Gulf Coast Ports

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of two maritime unions say they will recommend speedy ratification of the agreement ending the costly 75-day shipping strike in East and Gulf Coast ports. The two unions are the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots, and the American Radio Association, both AFL-CIO. Ratification could come by Wednesday, with ships sailing the following day.

Strike at AMC In Eighth Week; Talks Continue

Longest Walkout
In History of Automobile Firm

KENOSHA (AP) — The United Auto Workers strike against American Motors Corp. entered its eighth day today, matching the longest walkout in the company history here.

Federal mediators continued around-the-clock negotiation sessions, often having lunch and dinner sent in to the bargaining table, but they would not comment on any progress toward a settlement.

The talks were to resume at 9 a.m. today with UAW Local 7 and AMC negotiators meeting jointly with the mediators. About 30 persons were taking part — 17 union negotiators, 11 company officials and two federal representatives.

The strike, which has idled 11,000 men at American Motors' assembly plants here and halted all production of 1966 Rambler, began one week ago today in a dispute over what the company said were 135 pending union grievances. Another 5,000 workers have been idled at the body plant in Milwaukee, shut down until production resumes here.

The longest previous strike at American Motors here came Jan. 22-29, 1957, over 19 grievances.

The negotiators have met for approximately 60 hours since last Tuesday night.

Federal Mediator David S. Tanzman declined to say how near negotiators might be to a settlement, but added they had agreed on one thing — not to make any comment on progress or issues involved while the talks continued.

Sincere Attitude
Despite the large number of negotiators sitting in on the sessions, Tanzman praised the con-

Valley Chill to Lift But Showers to Stay

Fox Cities — Mostly cloudy with occasional rain tonight. Tuesday, considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thundershowers and warmer. Low tonight, near 55 degrees. High Tuesday near 75. Light southeasterly winds becoming southwesterly Tuesday.

Appleton — Observations at 10:30 a.m. Monday for the preceding 24-hour period. High: 63 degrees. Low: 53 degrees. Wind: 10 miles an hour out of the south, south-east. Barometric pressure: 30.11 and steady. Relative humidity: 94 per cent. Dew point: 55 degrees. Precipitation: .26 inch. Skies: cloudy. Temperature: 56 degrees.

Wisconsin — Five-day forecast: Temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average six to nine degrees below normal. Normal high 68 to 77 north, 74 to 79 south. Normal low, 48 to 57 north, 53 to 57 south. Cool early in the week, turning warmer in mid-week then cooler again toward the weekend. Two-thirds to one inch of rain.

Sun sets at 7:34 p.m., rises Tuesday at 6:15 a.m. Moon sets at 9:31 p.m. The planet, Mars, seen below the Moon tonight, is larger than the Moon and smaller than the earth. Mars takes 687 days to complete one orbit around the Sun.

Johnson Calls Negotiators in Steel Dispute

President's Plane
Hauls Top Ten
To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned steel negotiators to a White House meeting today in an attempt to end what he called a stalemate and head off a strike.

The President dispatched his personal plane to Pittsburgh to bring the 10 principal spokesmen for unions and steel producers to the conference table at the White House. The chief negotiators are I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper, representing 10 major producers.

The plane is expected to get them to Washington in time for an afternoon session with Johnson, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor.

Tuesday Deadline
The strike deadline is Tuesday midnight.

Johnson's decision to take a personal hand in the steel dispute at this point followed a report from the fact-finding team he sent to Pittsburgh Saturday. The word from the two members, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Undersecretary of Commerce LeRoy Collins was that the negotiators were getting nowhere and the negotiations were stalemated.

So Johnson decided, a White House statement said, "to request the principal negotiators of both parties to come to the meeting with himself and his two Cabinet members."

The White House said Johnson got a thorough, comprehensive report from Morse and Collins at the breakfast table, with Wirtz and Connor also present along with William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Betsy Slows, Moves to Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy, her 80-mile-per-hour winds expected to intensify, slowed down today 1,000 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Betsy bypassed Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Northern Leeward Islands Sunday as she swept on a north-northwesterly course which took her into open seas.

Her forward movement slowed from 21 to 17 and then to 12 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said a "gradual increase in intensity is expected, but there is no immediate threat to any land area."

Post-Crescent to Run Series on Johnson

The second year of Lyndon Johnson's presidency is nearing an end.

Just how much has been done and how he goes about his business is set forth in a four-part series by the Associated Press to start in Tuesday's Post-Crescent.

U. S. Involved By 90,000

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The number of U.S. military personnel in South Viet Nam totaled about 90,000 as of midnight Thursday, Aug. 26, an announcement said today.

This breakdown by services was given: Army 43,000; Navy 4,900; Marine Corps 29,000; Air Force 12,100 and Coast Guard 250.

guerrillas attacked a half-dozen outposts south of Saigon, overrunning three of them.

One of the B-52 strikes was made Saturday in northern Quang Tin Province, 325 miles north of Saigon. The other, on Sunday, again hit Zone D, the 600-square-mile jungle area which starts 30 miles north of Saigon.

14th Strike
The strikes by the Guam-based eight-engine planes were the 13th and 14th reported in the war. Five of them were carried out in the last six days.

Under new security regulations, the spokesman said not give the number of planes taking part or the number of bombs dropped.

The spokesman said an F105 Thunderchief was downed by ground fire Sunday on a bombing mission 80 miles northwest of Hanoi. The pilot was reported to have ejected safely but could not be rescued because of darkness. He was listed as missing.

Another F105 was lost Sunday when it had engine trouble over North Viet Nam. Its pilot was also reported to have been rescued.

Gronouski Is Ambassador To Poland; O'Brien Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, the husky, hard-working son of Irish immigrants, is an organizer.

He'll need his experience when he becomes the new postmaster general, running the vast U.S. mail system with its almost 600,000 employees.

John A. Gronouski, the husky and hard-working grandson of a Polish immigrant, is amiable, likes people. Those traits popped up in the announcement that Gronouski, present postmaster general, has been selected to be the new U.S. ambassador to Poland.

President Johnson announced the selections Sunday.

Kennedy Men
O'Brien, 48, of Massachusetts, and Gronouski, 45, of Wisconsin, were brought to Washington by President John F. Kennedy. Both stayed to work for Johnson. Both have been toilers in the vineyards of the Democratic party.

O'Brien, as special assistant to the President, has been the liaison man between the White House and Congress, for both Kennedy and Johnson.

"I know of no single individual who has contributed more to the enactment of legislation that touches the lives of so many Americans," Johnson said of O'Brien.

O'Brien has worked many jobs — even tending bar in his father's restaurant in Springfield, Mass., while earning a law degree. Later, he was vice president of a public relations firm in Springfield.

Ran Campaign
In 1952, he organized Kennedy's campaign for the Senate. He was national organizer for the Kennedy-Johnson campaign of 1960, and he was in Dallas with Kennedy that fateful Nov. 22, 1963.

After the assassination, O'Brien said he would stay on at the White House to press for legislation because Kennedy would have wanted it.

Gronouski, from the little town of Dunbar, Wis., holds a doctor of philosophy degree in government. He has taught economics and public finances at various universities and was Wisconsin's state tax commissioner before coming to Washington.

Taught in Maine
He graduated from St. Patrick's High School in Oshkosh and attended Oshkosh State College for three years. He then went to the University of Wisconsin where he received his bachelor's degree in 1942, his master's in 1947 and a doctorate in 1955.

Gronouski taught at the University of Maine in 1948 and served as a research specialist for the Federation of State Tax Commissioners. He taught at Wayne State University in Detroit before joining Wisconsin's government early in 1959 as research director for the State Tax Department and executive director of the governor's tax advisory committee.

The Wisconsin Tax Commission grew tremendously after he took over in 1960, mainly because the 1961 Legislature instituted Wisconsin's first sales taxes and started withholding of state income taxes. He had strongly opposed the sales tax, as did Democratic former Gov. John Reynolds and Gaylord Nelson.

Gronouski went to Poland last June to represent President Johnson at an international trade fair. In Warsaw, he went to the post office, shook the hands of some 100 Poles selling stamps or mailing letters, and then took a tour of the building.

DE PERE — A 19-year-old when he reached the scene shortly before 9 a.m. DePere firemen were summoned to put out the blazing cab. The policeman said there was no sign of life in the twisted wreckage when he arrived.

Hit Tree
A witness told police that Mullen's truck slowed and edged to the side of the road as it to stop. However, the vehicle sideswiped a tree, then rolled forward another 100 feet before toppling on its side against trees below the highway embankment. It burst into flames immediately, she said.

Asided by Brown County Police, traffic was rerouted for more than an hour while police and firemen directed removal of the body from the wreckage. Heavy equipment was brought in from De Pere and Green Bay to help remove the wreckage.

A carnival spokesman said the show broke up late Sunday night after playing the Door County Fair at Sturgeon Bay about 5 a.m. today with his semi-trailer loaded with ferris wheel components, he said. Police surmised Mullen may have fallen asleep.

Born March 16, 1946, Mullen lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mullen, 1452 N. Oneida St. His death was the first traffic fatality in De Pere Thursday.

Officials Say 8-Day Trip Qualifies Man for Travel To Moon in Apollo Flights

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS
AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors began probing the physical condition of America's Gemini 5 space champs today while space officials already spoke enthusiastically of having qualified a man for an eight-day roundtrip to the moon.

A sharp eye was kept on Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. to see whether disturbing symptoms might yet crop up in exhaustive medical examinations.

So far, in tests aboard the USS Lake Champlain, no such symptoms had been reported. Testing will continue for weeks.

Happy officials here expressed their confidence this way in a press briefing shortly after the astronauts were brought aboard the Champlain by helicopter Sunday.

Crew Qualified
Dr. Robert Gilruth, Manned Spacecraft Center director: "As you all know, we are driving forward to go to the moon during this decade, and someone said there in control center: 'We've now qualified one of the subsystems for the mission. That's the crew.'"

Dr. Charles Berry, flight surgeon: "We don't like to necessarily consider the crew as subsystems, but we certainly have the first of any parts of the Apollo system (the moon rocket project) that are qualified for eight days."

The space heroes were to sleep as long as they liked today. After more examinations, the men were to be flown to Cape Kennedy, about 400 miles from the carrier, to begin 11 days of seclusion.

The two-hour flight will be a snail's pace compared to the 17,500-mile-per-hour speed of the space chariot that carried Cooper, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Conrad, a Navy lieutenant commander, for almost eight days of weightless flying.

Remarkable Condition
First examinations Sunday aboard the Champlain indicated the men were in remarkable physical condition.

President Johnson phoned his congratulations to the space twins almost by the time they had removed their silver space suits.

Fire Exchanged By Forces in Santo Domingo

5 Reported Dead
In Outbreak With Armed Rebel Troops

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Rebel troops and the Inter-American Peace Force engaged in a heavy exchange of fire during the night in the most serious outbreak since June.

Rebel headquarters reported at least 5 dead and 10 wounded in the sharp, two-hour firefight ending shortly after midnight.

Organization of American States sources said rebel casualties had been reported to them as 9 dead and 31 wounded.

There was an unconfirmed report that a Paraguayan soldier of the Inter-American Peace Force had been slightly wounded. No U.S. casualties were reported.

Rebel Mortar
There were indications the shooting was touched off by mortar fire directed at the rebel sector of the city by troops of the civilian-military junta.

The incident occurred amid reliable reports that an agreement was imminent on an OAS formula for ending the four-month old Dominican crisis. These reports said military leaders backing the junta had asked for a minor change in a modified version of the peace proposal accepted by the rebels.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of the OAS political committee told newsmen he did not believe the latest shooting incident would affect the peace efforts.

Bunker and the other two members of the committee, Ambassador Ilmar Penha Marinho of Brazil and Ramon de Clairmont Duenas of El Salvador, rushed to the headquarters of the Inter-American Peace Force at the Hotel Jaragua to end the shooting.

Near Hotel
One mortar shell landed near the hotel but caused no casualties. The hotel is in the international security zone held by the peace force.

A newly installed system of counter-mortar radar operated by U.S. members of the peace force detected mortar fire coming from north of the U.S.-held line. The area is held by junta troops.

Free Society to Aid
Party Says Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater said today the Free Society Association will have a beneficial rather than an adverse effect on Republican party policy making and fund raising.

The 1964 GOP presidential nominee, here for a meeting of the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee, discounted in an interview reports that the conservative organization of which he is honorary chairman would provide competition for the regular party organization.

Johnson Adds Surprise to Appointments

Sharpened Timing Of Cabinet Changes Brings More Mileage

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — After an undramatic start in picking men for big jobs President Johnson apparently discovered his announcements would get twice the mileage if he added surprise and his timing was good.

His timing has been excellent. And he has thrown tradition out the window in his selections which have also been excellent, and obvious, if you think of it, but so unexpected that you ask yourself: "Why didn't I think of it?"

Sunday was a good example. He called a news conference on the lawn of his Texas home when Americans were watching television and listening to radios to learn about the Gemini 5 space twins who had plopped down earlier Sunday in the Atlantic.

Double Surprise

He used up 20 of the 30 allotted television minutes with announcements and pronouncements, some of which didn't have much news, and then suddenly hit the attentive nation with a double surprise:

He was sending Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, a man of Polish descent who had boned up on Polish while he was here, to Poland as U.S. ambassador and replacing him with Lawrence F. O'Brien, one of Johnson's top aides.

Left unsaid Sunday was the fact that now only five of the 10 Cabinet members Johnson inherited from President John F. Kennedy are still in the Cabinet. But he has made changes rather slowly.

Johnson has been in office 21 months. President Harry S. Truman, within six months after taking over from President Franklin D. Roosevelt, had replaced seven of the 10 members in the Cabinet he inherited.

The first dropout from Kennedy's Cabinet was his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, who quit as attorney general to run for the Senate from New York after Johnson made it clear he did not want him as a vice presidential running mate in the 1964 elections.

Replace Kennedy

Johnson waited almost five months to replace Kennedy with Nicholas Katzenbach, the acting attorney general all that time. When the announcement came, it was no surprise.

Nor was there anything startling when Johnson replaced some other dropouts. Luther H. Hodges, secretary of commerce, with John T. Connor, a drug manufacturer highly esteemed by business; Douglas Dillon, secretary of the Treasury, with Henry H. Fowler, a lawyer who

Motorists Asked To Drive Carefully As School Begins

Pointing out that 15 per cent of all pedestrian deaths and 38 per cent of all persons injured are school children, Francis J. Eckerman, safety director for the American Automobile Association Wisconsin Division, today called on all motorists to be extra careful in watching for school-bound youngsters.

In Appleton "School's Open" safety supplies, including posters and bumper strips as well as belts and badges for safety patrol members have been distributed. The safety posters being distributed are only part of 86,000 posters and 25,000 belts and badges being distributed by the motor club to elementary schools throughout Wisconsin.

Eckerman urged the following driving habits now that school is opening soon:

- Strict observance of posted school zone speed limits.
- Extra alertness for children crossing streets at unexpected places, such as from between parked cars or in mid-block.
- Cooperation with school safety patrols, who have proved to be an effective force for reducing traffic deaths and injuries among school children.
- Extra care when following or approaching a school bus, observing the requirement to stop for flashing red lights.

Canadian Uninjured as Car Goes Out of Control, Rolls

WAUPACA—A 21-year-old Canadian escaped injury early Saturday morning when the car he was in went out of control, traveled more than 500 feet on State 22 and rolled over four miles southwest of here.

Gaeton Philippon, 21, Lambton, Quebec, was found sitting in a dazed condition in the passenger's seat of the car by a passerby. Examination at Waupaca Riverside Hospital indicated Philippon was uninjured. He claimed he was not driving at the time of the accident. Police searched the accident area but found no trace of another occupant of the car.

The car in which Philippon was found is owned by Nel Roy, Frontenac, Canada, and had been reported stolen late Friday night. Both Roy and Philippon are employed by a tree trimming firm which is clearing the path for a new power line in the New London-Waupaca area.

County police said the car left the road on a curve while traveling south. It traveled 270 feet in the ditch, crossed Smith Road and then traveled another 357 feet, knocking down several signs before it returned to the road, rolled over and landed in the ditch.

The 1965 model car was listed as demolished.

Police experienced difficulty questioning Philippon and Roy because both are unable to speak English.

Stampede Days Mark Return Of Civic Custom

Clintonville Jaycees To Sponsor Rodeo, Barbecue for City

CLINTONVILLE—A community-wide barbecue and free grandstand show will signify Clintonville's return to annual civic celebrations, halted in 1956.

Stampede Days, promoted by the Clintonville Jaycee chapter, will be held Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The highlight will be a Rodeo Cowboys Association rodeo Sunday and Monday at a newly-developed natural amphitheater two miles north of the city on U.S. 45.

Events will include an open-pit beef barbecue in Walter A. Olen Park, a free variety show in front of the park grandstand and a free street dance Saturday night.

For a decade after World War II, the city staged harvest festival celebrations that boasted the state's largest annual parade and attracted thousands of spectators. After an exhausting centennial celebration 10 years ago the festivals were discontinued.

The Jaycees hope to begin planning a 1966 celebration soon.

Council Won't Approve New Yule Decor

A request of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce to string Christmas decorations and lights across College Avenue's business district has been rejected.

The council took the action on the recommendation of its public safety committee. Electrical Inspector Joseph Schoenhaar and Fire Chief Roland Kuehn pointed at the ground when it discharged. The bullet entered Perplis' knee and shattered the bone, Mork said.

The Chicago youths arrived in the Iowa area earlier in the day and had planned to camp on property owned by Perplis' father. Perplis was first taken to the Iowa Hospital and then transferred to Madison.

The shooting has been listed as accidental. Mork said Verbeeck was released after questioning.

However, city officials said they would be happy to work out some other arrangement. Chamber officials said okay and will try again.

The aldermen and Chamber officials were agreed on one thing, however: The new decorations tried out in front of the post office on Superior Street this summer were unique and eye-catching.

Accountants to Meet

The Appleton chapter of Certified Public Accountants will have a noon luncheon Thursday at Alex's Manor House. William R. Reuther, vice president and trust officer at the First National Bank, Appleton, will discuss "Pension and Profit Sharing Benefits."

Chicago Youth Accidentally Shot Near Iowa

Knee Shattered In Target Practice Incident Saturday

WAUPACA — A 17-year-old Chicago youth is reported in satisfactory condition at a Madison Hospital after he was accidentally shot in the right knee by another 17-year-old Saturday afternoon four miles east of Iowa.

Erick H. Perplis, the injured youth, was target shooting with four other Chicago youths when he was wounded. John Verbeeck told Waupaca County Under-sheriff William Mork he thought he had the 22 caliber pistol pointed at the ground when it discharged. The bullet entered Perplis' knee and shattered the bone, Mork said.

Funeral Services Set For Martin Unmuth's Mother in Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Mrs. Addie Unmuth, 89, a resident of the Marion Home here, died Sunday morning.

She is the mother of Martin Unmuth, 212 E Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, and Mrs. Everett Hanf, Oshkosh. Mrs. Unmuth is survived by five sisters, one brother, her children, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Visitation will begin at 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Fiss & Bills Funeral Home, with services at 10 a.m. Wednesday in St. Mary Catholic Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Cattle, Hay, Lost in Royalton Barn Fire

Roland Schreiber Farm Building Destroyed in Blaze Sunday Night

ROYALTON — Three head of cattle and several tons of hay and straw were destroyed when fire demolished a barn on the Roland Schreiber farm three miles south of here Sunday night.

The fire was discovered by the Schreiber family at approximately 8:25 p.m. The New London fire department was called, but when firemen arrived the entire barn was engulfed in flames.

The three head of cattle, trapped in the lower portion of the barn were shot when rescuers were unable to reach them.

Cause of the fire, which is believed to have started in the upper portion of the 30 by 40 foot barn, is not known, nor has any estimate of loss been made.

Schreiber, who is also a truck driver for an Appleton trucking firm, was working at the time the fire broke out. Mrs. Schreiber said when she and the children spotted the fire from the nearby house it was already raging out of control.

Fox Cities Couples, Priests Attend

Christian Family Movement Meeting Hears Theologian

Special to the Post-Crescent

The dead body of an Episcopal divinity student and the broken flesh of a Catholic priest from Chicago are the most recent signs of "a raging struggle in our own land," Dr. Franklin H. Little told delegates at the 14th annual convention of the Christian Family Movement at Notre Dame University Friday.

Fifteen Fox Cities couples and six area priests were among those who heard Dr. Littell, a faculty member at Chicago Theological Seminary. The prominent Protestant theologian spoke to the convention of 1,500 couples, 400 priests and nuns and 7 bishops, saying "final victory is assured" in the struggle between God's law and the anarchy of the jungle, and between faithfulness to Jesus Christ and submission to wickedness.

Dr. Littell asserted that true religious devotion is expressed in selfless service to the poor and the helpless, rather than through forced obedience to the ambitious and powerful. "The high religion comes from volunteers rather than unwilling conscripts," he said.

"The only question for you and me," he concluded, "in this fullness of time, in this age of church renewal through the laity is whether we shall be numbered among those found faithful or counted among those undisciplined, wandering and lost."

Also speaking to the delegates Friday night was Catholic Relief Services official, James Norris, assistant to the executive director.

Dedicate 1 Per Cent

Speaking of the growing division between the rich and poor nations of the world, Norris called for the wealthy 16 per cent of the nations of the world "in a formal fashion to dedicate at least one per cent of their national income to economic assistance." He asked convention delegates to "counter with all possible energy the voices of defeatism, cynicism and racism."

Among delegates from the valley are the Green Bay federation president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kennedy, Appleton, and the federation chaplain, the Rev. Robert Vandenberg, St. Therese, Appleton.

The Fox Valley region's contact couple, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klein, Menasha, and the region-

Big Waupaca Fair Crowds Despite Cold, Rainy Days

Girl From Manawa Wins Crown

WEYAUWEGA — Despite threatening weather on Friday and Sunday afternoons and cold evenings, sizeable crowds turned out for the 92nd annual Waupaca County Fair which ended here Sunday.

Margaret O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Brien, Manawa, was named 1966 Waupaca County honey queen. Miss O'Brien, a member of the Wisconsin Workers 4-H Club, has been a 4-H member for four years and has participated in sewing, food preservation and cooking projects. Mary Kraus, Weyauwega, the 1965 honey queen, crowned her successor. Cheryl Spiegelberg was named first runner-up and Barbara Montgomery, second runner-up.

Awards in the 4-H horse show, held in front of the grandstand Friday afternoon, went to Dennis Roloff, Northport Hilltoppers, cloverleaf race; Roloff, handy horse event; Cheryl Williams, Northland Rangers, through the barrel.

Judging was completed in all departments Saturday. Demonstrations were presented by county youths Saturday and Sunday afternoons in the junior fair tent. The county dress revue was staged there Sunday afternoon.

County Fair Queen

Earlier Miss Diana Moe, representing the Waupaca Junior Chamber of Commerce, was named Miss Waupaca County Fair. She was crowned by the reigning queen, Miss Pat Zick of Weyauwega. Cal Cheek, master of ceremonies, presented

Sulky Drivers Avert Race Mishap

WEYAUWEGA — Quick thinking by two race drivers averted a serious accident during harness racing Sunday at the Waupaca County Fair.

Lee Rod, driven by Tom Peterson, Milwaukee, tired just short of the finish line in the second heat of the third race. The trotter caught a hoof in its boot and tripped, throwing the driver. John Bull, Marshfield, driving David Heberling, who was finishing close behind Lee Rod, managed to guide his horse around the wreck just as his horse started to rear. Peterson was uninjured and Lee Rod escaped with a scraped forehead and minor scratches. The racing sulky was demolished.

Sunday's results were in the pace for winners of less than $600 — First division: Phillis Van, owned and driven by Arnie Van Schyndel, first in both heats; Mobile Bay, owned and driven by Douglas McClain, second and fifth; Sidess Bob, owned by Fred Meyers, driven by Al Meyers, third in both heats; Twinkling King, owned by Dan Kimball, Jim Grunewald, driver, fourth and second; Rush Bob, owned and driven by John Hussin, sixth and fourth. Time, 2:12 4, 2:12 6.

Dill's Bonnie Wins

Pace for winners of less than $600—second division. # Trailer Ordinance For Chain O' Lakes Area Is Considered

Farmington Town Board Studies Law to Control Location of Parks

WAUPACA — More than 50 interested taxpayers and residents of the Town of Farmington attended a public hearing Saturday to hear the details of a proposed mobile home and trailer ordinance.

The township does not have an ordinance on trailer courts or individual trailers parked in the township that includes a large portion of the Chain O' Lakes area.

For several years attempts have been made to pass a trailer ordinance establishing a set of rules for the placement of mobile homes and standards.

Need Ordinance to Change

The proposed ordinance was explained by Richard E. Johnson, legal council for the Chain O' Lakes Protective Association. He said ordinances of this type are required under state statute and that a fee for parking trailers cannot be charged by the township unless an ordinance is passed.

The town board is expected to act on the proposed ordinance at its next regular meeting Sept. 14. If the board adopts the ordinance another public hearing must be held to determine monthly fees.

Under the present system, mobile homes parked in the township are taxed as personal property. Under the new ordinance trailers would not be taxed but would be charged a monthly fee. This fee would be based on the cost of operating the town government plus

The ordinance definition of a trailer was questioned at the public hearing. According to the ordinance, a trailer is any parks also was questioned. If the ordinance is passed as it was presented the only property a trailer court or park could be located on would be land zoned for heavy industry.

Johnson explained that with such a requirement the town

Ronald Resch and Paul Krostue Taken To Hospital

NEW LONDON — Two 17-year-old youths, passengers in a car driven by Larry N. Seefeldt, 17, 414 W. Jennings St., received minor injuries in an accident at 12-05 Sunday.

Ronald Resch, route 1, injured his right knee and Robert Krostue, 412 W. Beacon Ave., received a laceration on the top of his head. Both were taken to Community Hospital in the police squad car.

City police said the car driven by Seefeldt, crossed to the left side of the road and struck a parked car owned by Les O'Neil, 306 W. Millard St., as Seefeldt turned from Nassau Street onto Millard.

O'Neil's car received about $150 in damage and the Seefeldt automobile $250, according to police estimates.

A car driven by Robert L. Haase, 20, route 1, Weyauwega, received an estimated $300 damage when it struck the Shawano Street bridge at 3:40 a.m. Sunday.

City police reported the Haase car struck the corner of the bridge as the driver turned from N. Water Street.

Wallenda Retires From High Wire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Karl Wallenda, 60, leader of the world-famous family of high-wire acrobats, said his performance Saturday night at a race track was his last regular show. He said he was going into semiretirement and doubted that the Wallenda family ever again would perform the seven-man pyramid that he created. The collapse of such a pyramid in Detroit three years ago killed two members of the family and crippled his son, Mario.

Waupaca Easter Seal Unit Gives $250 To Luann Aronson

NEW LONDON — Luann Aronson, route 1, Iola, was presented the Waupaca County Easter Seal Society medical scholarship Saturday by chapter president A. W. Voiz.

The $250 award has been made annually since 1963 to a person in his second year of study in the medical field.

The 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Aronson, Iola, graduated from Iola-Scandinavia High School in 1964. She completed a year of study at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point and has been attending classes at Madison General Hospital this summer. She is scheduled to graduate from the Madison School in 1967.

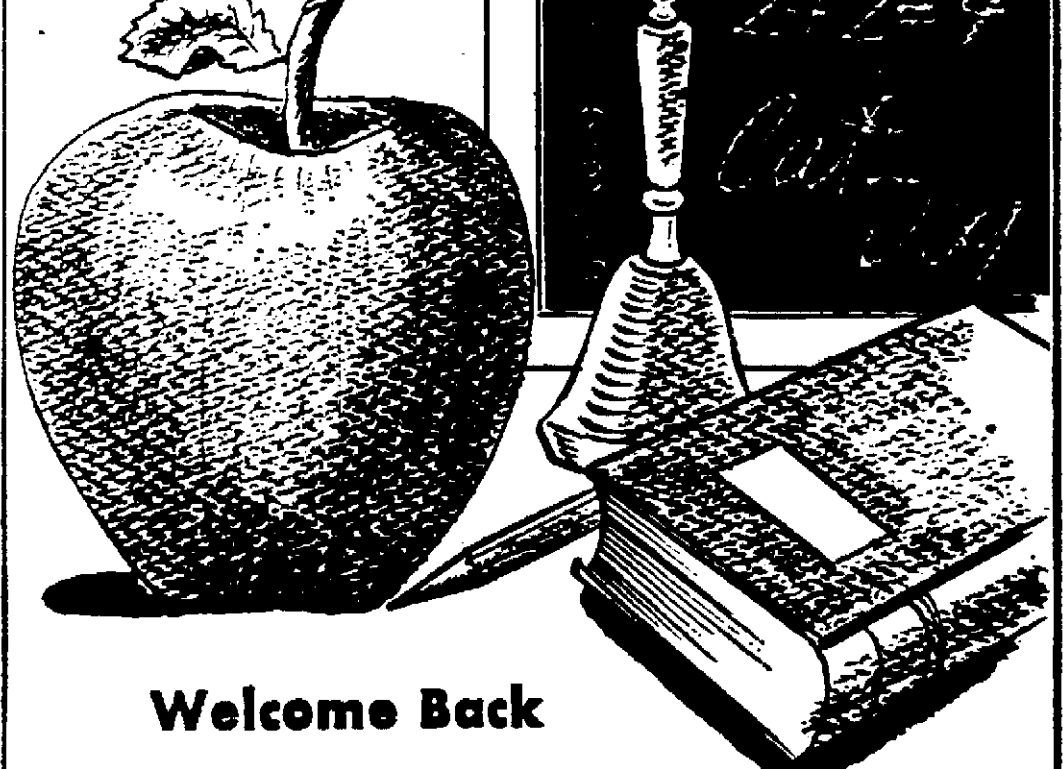

Mrs. Aronson said she has not decided on a special field of nursing yet. An older sister is a registered nurse at Deaconess Hospital, Milwaukee.

Labor Lowers Ragged Trade

Threatened Strike Of Steel Industry Causes Concern

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged lower irregularly early this afternoon as deadlocked labor negotiations threatened a possible steel strike by Wednesday morning.

Gains and losses of key stocks ranged from fractions to a point or so.

The leading steel shares were lower but their losses were small. Some were trimmed or erased later.

Wall Street was undergoing considerable uncertainty and exerting caution in view of the chance that 450,000 steelworkers, who turn out 80 per cent of the nation's steel, might walk out. The nation's biggest steel producer, U.S. Steel, said it is in the process of shutting down some of its facilities to prepare for a possible strike.

Cigarette stocks resumed their advance of last week. Motors turned mixed after rising at the start.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.1 at 333.0 with industrials off .7, rails up .1 and utilities up .5.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .94 at 895.02.

Some of the gold-mining issues perked up. A 2-point loss in Eastman Kodak dampened the industrial average.

U.S. Steel halved an early 1-in light trading.

Governor Gives Approval To Regional Projects Bill

Strike Enters Eighth Week

Machinists Decide Not to Vote Again On A-C's Last Offer

The strike of machinists union employees at Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works entered its eighth week today with no indication of a settlement in the 1965 contract dispute.

Those members of Local 747 of the International Association of Machinists who registered and obtained strike benefit checks over the weekend were polled informally on whether to schedule another vote on the company's last offer.

Union officials indicated today the majority of those polled did not want another vote. Previously, the membership turned down the company's contract offer by a 133-36 vote.

It was learned that last week company bargainers indicated their availability to continue negotiations but the union's international representative could not participate so no further talks were scheduled.

However, there is indication state and federal mediators will attempt to get the parties together sometime this week. At a meeting last week, the union cited reasons why it turned down the company's last offer. The main plant has been closed since July 11.

Methodists Hold Retreat For Laymen

"A Call to Action" for lay activity in the church was discussed by almost 50 members of the official board of the First Methodist Church Sunday at Asbury Acres, camp site west of Waupaca.

Four discussion groups were formed under the leadership of Archie Johnson, Robert Chase, Richard Stowe and Earl Miller. The subject matters included participation in the life of the church, financial and stewardship needs, growth and influence of the church upon the community, and its outreach beyond the community. Arrangements were made by T. H. Gilleland, chairman of the official board. The retreat was under the direction of the Rev. Richard Miller, district superintendent of the Fond du Lac District. The Rev. John White told the visitors about the physical and spiritual aspects of Asbury Acres.

Sponsored by Planning Group, Law Permits Governmental Units to Cooperate by Contract

MADISON — Gov. Warren Knowles today signed into law a measure obtained the approval of the council's urban problems committee and the council itself before introducing the measure in the Assembly.

The bill encountered objections from private utilities in the Assembly. Several conferences were held before a compromise amendment was reached, eliminating the utilities' objections that the bill would allow sponsorship of utility services now provided by private corporations.

After passage by the Assembly, the bill was sent to the Senate, where it was approved by the Committee on Veterans and Governmental Affairs and sent to the floor the final week in July.

At the request of Sen. Reuben LaFave (R-Oconto), acting chairman of the Highway Committee, the bill was referred to that committee. LaFave introduced an amendment banning road projects from the bill.

Sen. Gerald Lorge (R-Bear Creek) and LaFave worked out a compromise amendment included in the bill which requires approval of the State Highway Commission as well as the county highway committees of involved counties for any joint road projects.

A major project of the planning commission is the proposed Tri-County Expressway. Municipalities belonging to the commission include the cities of Appleton, Little Chute and Combined Locks, and the towns of Neenah, Menasha, Grand Chute, Buchanan, and Harrison.

Planning commission territory covers parts of Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties. The report includes only cities with more than 100,000 population. Madison had no murder or non-negligent manslaughter reported in the first half of either 1964 or 1965.

Major Crime Rate Rising In Madison

WASHINGTON (AP) — The major crime rate in Madison, Wis., showed an increase in most categories in the first six months of 1965 compared with the same period last year, but 91.

Milwaukee had a decrease in all classifications. On a nationwide basis, violent crimes increased five per cent, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Sunday.

The report includes only cities with more than 100,000 population. Madison had no murder or non-negligent manslaughter reported in the first half of either 1964 or 1965.

Speaker Warns of Big Labor, Government at Appleton Parley

Independent retailers from throughout the state were urged to modernize to save themselves in the struggle against combines, big labor and big government at a convention banquet at the Conway Hotel Sunday night.

"You are the unit without which the free enterprise system cannot work," Ed Wimmer, vice president of the National Federation of Independent Business, told members attending the 48th Retail Meat and Food Dealers Association gathering.

"When you fix up your store you do it not only for yourself but for your country's future. You owe your son the heritage of a free market," Wimmer said in his pep talk.

Warns of Threat

A man who spends $25,000 a year traveling around the United States and Canada speaking to small businessmen for NFIB, Wimmer warned the retailers of the threat of discount houses, growing government power, merging corporations and big labor unions.

He spoke of women as "the most destructive force on the face of the earth" with the $221 billion purchasing power they wield. He said women shoppers with "a trading stamp gleam in their eye" are "beating the small businessman to death."

He urged the retailers and private organizations to take action, saying, "Organizations, that confine themselves to their own backyard will soon have no backyard to play in."

Stumbling Block for Socialism

He stressed his belief that "Small business is the principal stumbling block in the way of socialism and communism." He

Need 'Angry Men'

The businessmen, he said, formed a group called the "Angry Men" and their success in Philadelphia was written up in 1962 Reader's Digest. "If all small towns had a group of angry men that met once a week we wouldn't have to look to Washington," Wimmer declared.

He spoke of the renovating power of basic improvements in light and color in small stores. Wimmer said the NFIB had waged a color and light campaign throughout the country and found, "It does wonders to bring people into stores."

Review Board Begins Work This Morning

The annual weeklong session of the Appleton Board of Review was convened at the city hall this morning, giving taxpayers an opportunity to appeal 1965 property assessments.

Assessment rolls are open for inspection in the office of Assessor John Pierre, who sent out more than 1,000 notices of increases this year.

Appleton's total assessed valuation increased by $4.1 million over 1964, raising the total to $154 million.

The board of review meets one week a year according to state statutes. Anyone wishing to object to an assessment may do so by filling out the necessary form which can be obtained from the city clerk's office.

Assailant Sought In Racine Stabbing

RACINE (AP) — An unidentified assailant was sought by Racine police today in the fatal stabbing of Guadalupe Elizondo, 23, of Racine and the slaying of Richard Nalacara, 27, also of Racine at Happy Medium Club here Sunday night.

Authorities said that the men were stabbed during a fight at the tavern. The assailant ran out the door.

Nalacara was hospitalized with stab wounds.

board would have control over where parks could be established. If a prospective developer presented a suitable plan for a trailer court or park, the town board could rezone the site to heavy industry. If the plan did not meet with the board approval it could then be rejected by not rezoning the land.

There are two established trailer parks in the Chain O' Lakes area but neither park had a representative at the hearing.

The main concern of those at the hearing was location of trailer parks. Johnson told the group, "I don't want a trailer park located next to my property and you don't want one located next to your property."

By establishing such an ordinance the location of such parks can be controlled.

Sanitation Requirements

The next step in establishing an ordinance is the required sanitation and policing regulations. "If proper sanitation requirements are not followed, severe problems can be caused," Johnson said.

The public hearing was held at the Farmington Town Hall. Another public hearing is scheduled at the hall Sept. 11 on rezoning a parcel of land for a trailer campsite.

Gaylord Nelson as Senator

We may suppose that United States Senator Gaylord Nelson is the top-ranking politician in the Wisconsin picture today. His colleague Sen. Proxmire is senior to him in the nominal hierarchy of the Senate, but Nelson has been twice entrusted with the sensitive and important office as governor as well as the coveted seat in what has sometimes been called the most exclusive club in the world. On the basis of national commentaries lately, moreover, his constituents may deduce that he is rising perceptibly in the subtle but real internal operation of that "club."

The late Speaker Rayburn of the House of Representatives, who rose to legendary authority during his long political lifetime, used to advise freshmen in the Congress in effect that to get along they had to go along. We don't know how Sen. Nelson has managed it, but some of the most perceptive of the correspondents have noted lately that he is "getting along," in spite of what in Washington terms is a tender juniority by calendar definition.

One reason, the home folks may guess, is that the Wisconsin senator has long been a trusted supporter and affectionate friend of Vice-president Humphrey. Another undoubtedly is the disarming personality of the man which brought him some Republican votes to clinch narrow victories in the early stages of his career in Wisconsin state capitol affairs.

It is not easy for a new member of the Congress to establish an identity, given the unwritten rules about rank and privilege in the national capital. Nelson has shrewdly, and usefully as well, performed in Washington according to a pattern he successfully demonstrated in an uncertain environment when he was governor a few years ago. He has picked up issues and problems that other men, engaged heavily in other interests and responsibilities, have tended to overlook or neglect. His work on the question of motor vehicle tire safety and quality standards is in the best tradition of Wisconsin politics. Perhaps he has won even more and more favorable attention by his emphasis upon natural resource conservation and regulation questions, even as he did when he was governor in Madison.

The senator told us in an informal interview some months ago that the problems of the Congress, dealing as it does with the problems of the whole world, are so numerous and complex and difficult that a member of that body perforce must channel his efforts rather narrowly to make any impact upon the country or its legislation. Peculiarly enough, there was a vacuum in the political leadership of the resource conservation movement when he reached Washington, as there was when he began his rise in state capitol politics. The rules of publicity being what they are, we would venture a guess that his specialization in that field, aside from useful results for the general public and his state constituency, will also prove efficacious in a political sense.

Elections Could Go Against Us in Viet Nam

In speaking of our war aims in Viet Nam, Secretary of State Dean Rusk suggested that the United States would be willing to settle for a return to the situation achieved by the Geneva Accords of 1954. If the Hanoi government agreed to stay behind the lines set by that agreement and stop infiltrating men and arms to the Viet Cong, American troops could come home, Rusk said.

So far this effort to encourage negotiations has had no official response from Ho Chih Minh. But they might well give it deep thought for it is quite likely that they could win all of Viet Nam through actual free elections rather than the military tactics of the Viet Cong.

Ever since the end of World War II, the free world has taken pride in the fact that no Communist regime ever came to power through the honest vote of the people. Communist regimes do hold elections of course but there is no choice. Rather, they are somehow supposed to indicate a vote of confidence in the party which rules through force.

But the chaotic confusion of cliques struggling for power in Saigon has actually led several experts on South Viet Nam to suggest that the most likely victor in free elections, if held right now, would be the National Liberation Front, the party of the Viet Cong. It was in fact doubt that non-Communists would win that persuaded the late President Diem to put off elections. This in turn led to charges, with some justification, from Ho Chih Minh that Diem was breaking the accords.

An election held a decade ago might have put Ho Chih Minh in power over all of Viet Nam. This is not because the majority of the people are in favor of communism or that communism has brought blessings of every kind to the North. But Ho was the leader who defeated the French colonialists and gave Viet Nam independence. It is no wonder that many Vietnamese consider him their George Washington whatever his political ties to Moscow and Peking.

The knowledge that free elections might put the Communists in power makes our present war seem a little foolish. Does it make sense that Americans are dying in repelling Communist troops when the people we are trying to protect might want communism? Obviously we cannot take the point of view that we are saving peoples around the world from themselves. If a settlement is reached and then the Vietnamese in the South vote in favor of the National Liberation Front, the party of the Viet Cong, we have no business interfering.

But at present we are fighting in Viet Nam against a Communist enemy invading from the North with arms and ammunition and probably a number of troops. We are doing so at the request of the government of South Viet Nam although the present one came to power, not through free elections but by a military coup. If the Communists are unwilling to try elections perhaps they do not have as strong a backing in South Viet Nam as has sometimes been indicated. But Americans must face the possibility that after the fighting is over the whole country may be lost to the free world anyway.

Here's Where the Money Goes

Opponents of the entrance into business affairs of the federal government have emphasized that such competition to private industry is unfair since the taxpayers' money is being used. Now a House investigating committee has found some astonishing evidence, not only of such competition, but of inefficiency and waste.

A panel of the House Armed Services committee studied for a year the operation of the Aerospace Corporation, a nonprofit, government-owned research company set up in 1960 by the United States Air Force especially for missile research and development. The Titan 3, Minuteman 2, 69 space launchings and rocket booster programs have been assisted by Aerospace, according to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert. Since 1960 when the corporation was created, it has received $309 million in government contracts and about $16 million in fees.

But however much Aerospace may have contributed to our security, the House committee findings were appalling. Management practices were often "unreasonable, uneconomical and unjustifiable." There was a "serious lack of adequate fiscal controls." More than 40 per cent of the 4,306 employees were being paid base salaries of more than $10,000 and the president was getting no less than $90,000 a year. In addition to this the president had had his furnishings moved from his former home in Massachusetts to California. The charges included $3,133.02 for trucking a 40-foot yacht. Aerospace's public image was upheld not only by its own vast public relations personnel but by a public relations firm in New York which was paid $2,000 a month to give advice to Aerospace's own 16 press agents who apparently needed help in spending the $11 million for salaries, cocktails and entertainment for newsmen. Air Force officers and businessmen in 4½ years.

The House committee also charged that Aerospace spent $22 million unnecessarily for land in California and paid a psychologist $240 a day for "services of dubious value."

Aerospace is only one of 450 such nonprofit corporations set up in the country to do the government's business. There are probably valid reasons for their existence although we must wonder why private industry cannot fulfill the requirements. But the fatal weakness of such nonprofit corporations has been revealed by the House investigation. There is no encouragement whatever to save money, to spend it wisely, to determine that full value is received for every penny given. And, after all, why should there be? There is always more available from the pockets of American taxpayers.

State GOP Nominates Fairchild

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 9, 1865.
The Convention which met at the Capitol on Wednesday last was presided over by M. L. Martin of Green Bay. The following is the (Republican) ticket they have come through the form of nominating:
Lucius Fairchild for Governor; Wyman Spooner, Lieutenant Governor; Gen. T. S. Allen, Secretary of State; M. E. Smith, Treasurer; Col.

Lusk, Bank Comptroller; Col. Dill, Attorney General; J. H. McMan, State Superintendent of Schools and Cordes, Prison Comptroller.
The convention was a very stormy one, and a regular tumpus was made over the resolutions introduced by Sen. Doan, which abounded in his usual decorative style, clearly dodging the Negro suffrage question. Gen. Paine, on behalf of the suffrage portion of the convention instantly proposed an additional resolution, fast and square for suffrage. The last accounts we hear is that they were having a rich fight.

Poor Hastings received only 96 votes out of 207 for Treasurer. He can now retire to the shades of merited oblivion.

Hungarian Stories About U.S. Friendship Just So Much Hot Air

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR
BUDAPEST—Red chief Janos Kadar, infamous for his part in helping to crush the tragic 1956 revolt, makes a great effort with visiting American newsmen to trumpet his desire "to normalize U.S. relations." But he's never given the slightest indication of this to Charge d'Affaires Elim O'Shaughnessy.

Taylor

Kadar's current propaganda is dedicated to making it appear (typically) that we're the obstacle to peace and understanding, we're the fly in the Hungarian ointment, we're the ones blocking progress toward a better international life. In short, once again, it's all our fault. Hokus, hokey, hokum.

Behind the scenes, O'Shaughnessy remains thwarted, frustrated, hog-tied at every turn. The United States and Hungary having withdrawn ambassadors, he is our ranking diplomat here. O'Shaughnessy has served in Poland, Yugoslavia, England, France, Italy and many other places across 27 years, and O'Shaughnessy can take it. But it becomes very irksome, as in all totalitarian countries, to read what the leaders say for the American press and to know what they actually do against us on the inside.

SNUBBED FOR TWO YEARS
Foreign Minister Janos Peter still refuses to receive that year were Evelyn Spragston, Pearl Fredericks, Betty Hodgen, Helen Kirk, Jo Diehn, Midge Patterson, Ethel Melcher, Pearl Nolke, Marie Salm, Rella Swamp and Lorraine Kasten. Carlton Ziegler was manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sieth and their children, Harlan and Jean, returned to Appleton after a trip to Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills of South Dakota.

10 YEARS AGO
Monday, Aug. 29, 1855.
Miss Jean Schulz, June graduate of Appleton High School, was awarded the $300 nurses' training scholarship sponsored by the Outagamie County Venture of 40 at 8. Presentation was made to Miss Schulz by Francis Hersacker, director of the venture's then new program and officers: William Wren, Max Koehel and Louis Micheln.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Arnold the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women was preparing for its 19th annual book sale to raise funds for the organization's scholarship program. Mrs. E. L. Laughlin and Mrs. E. S. Torres were assisting on the project.

O'Shaughnessy. So does Kadar. Kadar invariably snubs him and O'Shaughnessy to this very day has never had a single word with Kadar or even met him, although O'Shaughnessy has been here nearly two years.

Our Embassy here—a large, old six-story building which we own—is officially regarded by our traveling security inspectors as the most microphone-infested in the satellite world. Our Ambassador's residence in Prague adjoins the Red Chinese Embassy grounds. We find it practically impossible to determine where Czech and Soviet wire-tapping infiltration and surveillance leaves off and Red China's begins. Here, too, Peking conducts its own separate self-contained electronic and physical intrusion against us, relentless and vicious.

Hungarian men and women who work for us as attendants, chauffeurs, etc., are first channeled through the Hungarian secret police and then constantly harassed by them. On the Red government's orders, O'Shaughnessy's American staff is reduced to a skeleton. As late as August 11 his application to add only one American helper was refused. Official requests to import anything remain stymied for months and border clearance dates utterly uncertain if marked "For U.S. Embassy."

It's easier for tourists to enter because the government desperately needs hard currencies. The casual American visitor runs no risks, facilities have been improved and there's even a tourist currency rate. (It's better than the official rate but only about half the rate on the black market.) And all this adds to the misleading charade.

Similar double-talk extends to American businessmen unless what they offer is greatly to the Red government's advantage. For example, Cleveland tycoon Cyrus S. Eaton, the very rich crony of the U.S.S.R., and his son, with associates, have been referring in America to an intention 'Leave Washington and relax for a couple of months, Senator! That's about the only cure for a twisted arm.'

Wisconsin Report

Doubts Are Expressed On Adequacy of Jury System in Wisconsin

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Publicly expressed doubt by qualified magistrates about the adequacy of the jury system as governed by existing law must be ranked as one of the significant developments in public affairs. At a recent judicial conference in Madison attended by most of the trial judges of Wisconsin and sponsored by the State Supreme Court several prominent trial judges spoke out about the system in such terms as to merit more attention than they have yet had.

Wyngaard

Precisely put, the issue is whether the defendant in a jury trial is getting the judgment of his peers (equals) as intended by ancient rule, and as ostensibly guaranteed by the laws of the country and the state which are as fundamental as any others in American society.

Because of statutory exemptions from jury duty that relate to needs and conditions of other eras, the system of selection, the system of excusing men and women from jury service and other factors, there is ample reason for some doubt, at least, about compliance with the spirit of the jury trial guarantees.

JUDGES SPEAK

Two of the prominent trial judges who participated in the recent panel discussion were Max Raskin of Milwaukee and Richard W. Bardwell of Madison.

Judge Raskin, a man of extensive trial experience before his elevation to the bench, put it bluntly enough: "Today we have a lower than midpoint level on juries as far as education is concerned."

Judge Raskin's observation is especially pertinent in Madison, which has a population which is peculiarly subject to the statutory exemption of certain professional and other classes. Anyone who contemplates the automatic exemption of teachers and professors, for example, or officers of institutions, or practitioners in many of the basic professions, must have some doubt about the validity of the guarantee of representative juries in the courts.

Even a casual observer of the judicial process must have some curiosity about the number of housewives and retired persons serving on juries. And a casual reflection on the mechanics of exemption by law and excuses asked by others from judges who find them difficult to refuse leads to the reasons quickly enough.

Judge Bardwell, another participant in the discussions at the conference, observed that there should be more emphasis in the composition of jury panels upon getting a fair representation of the population according to ethnic and geographical associations, as well as educational attainment. By indirection at least, that was another suggestion of weakness in the system.

COURT WARNING

In at least one important appeal of a criminal case to the State Supreme Court recently, counsel for the appellants rested their claim on the failure to recruit the jury properly.

The court did not agree that the trial court decision should be overturned, but the entire bench and bar of Wisconsin probably noted that in its opinion the tribunal pointedly reminded the trial judges of the state of the absolute need for careful selection of juries.

Obliquely, at least, that appeared to be a confirmation of the concern expressed publicly by some of the leading trial court judges at the conference here.

Lawyers as a group uphold the jury system as one of the indispensable bulwarks of the administration of justice in Wisconsin and in America. The laity, noting some evidence of doubt among experts about the evolution of the system, may wonder why there has not been provided more study of the problems, apparent or real. In an era of proliferating exploration into far more trivial topics, there would appear here to be one worthy of high priority consideration of the academic researchers.

Strictly Personal

Could Tax Incentives Be Given Teachers?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Reading another of those depressing (and depressingly true) articles about the shortage of teachers, and the poor salary scale they still get, I was reminded of the experience an American actress had in Norway a few years ago.

Harris

At the end of her engagement, she was called in by the authorities in Oslo, to determine the amount of tax she would have to pay on her earnings. According to Norwegian law, if she were a "variety artist" she would have to pay a 30 per cent tax; but a "serious artist" would be nicked for only 9 per cent.

This strikes me as a sensible and adult approach to the vexing problem of taxation—not only because it judges citizens in relation to their value to society but also because it provides incentive for persons entering less remunerative but more essential occupations.

For instance, Dr. John J. Morton of the University of Rochester, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, said that many of our finest young medical men have left cancer research "because they cannot afford to stay in it."

Cancer research, Dr. Morton added, requires more than 15 years of preparatory study for a specialist "at a salary scale that would not interest an ordinary laborer."

If society isn't prepared to pay as much for its serious musicians, researchers, teachers and nurses as it is for perfume salesmen, bricklayers, auto mechanics and investment counselors, why don't we adopt the Norwegian procedure and tax people according to their contributions to the general welfare?

There is something pathological, it seems to me, about a civilization in which an entertainer makes more (even after taxes) in a month than a basic researcher makes in a year. The fact that the researcher doesn't want more is irrelevant; the young potential researcher cannot even afford to stay in the field.

When it becomes more profitable, in any nation, for a man to be bartender than a teacher, we may legitimately suspect something is seriously wrong. And, if we don't feel we can raise the teachers' salaries, then it behooves the rest of us to ease the tax burden of those who are concerned with giving service while we are making money.

as a damage but as an added perfection for mankind."

The Soviet people heard praise of the astronauts as Soviet television and Tass made the Gemini 5 space mission the lead item on the evening news.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain called the flight "a quite remarkable feat which is a triumph of technology and human courage."

As for the astronauts, they couldn't wait to eat after being plucked from the Atlantic Ocean. Dr. Minners said the Astronauts joked with him about when he would let them eat.

Strict Diet

"For lunch, they had steak, potatoes, peas, salad, soup and mushroom gravy," Minner said. The men will be on a strict calcium-free diet for a few days so tests can be made to determine whether weightless flying drains calcium from bones.

Dr Charles A Berry, flight surgeon, said one significant preliminary finding showed the two spacemen's hearts adapted to weightlessness by slowing down.

He said it was the first time such a pattern definitely had showed up during space voyages.

Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, said none of the numerous malfunctions during the flight would keep the United States from going ahead with plans for a two-day flight in October.

Fuel Cell

He said work already had started to correct fuel cell troubles that threatened to "drown out" the flight as a result of too much water production for the craft's storage capacity.

Gilruth said the flight put the United States on schedule with its timetable of launching three astronauts to the moon before 1970.

Gemini 5 was a make-believe trip to the moon, in a sense. The eight days equal the estimated time needed to go to the moon, stay a day, and come back to earth.

Many of the experiments aboard the 4,500-pound vehicle pertained to the Apollo mission — the projected moon flights — the most important being radar tests. The moon trip plan calls for rendezvous and docking of two space ships for a successful mission.

Success Guaranteed

Even though the rendezvous portion of the flight ended in failure during the first day, Mathews and Christopher C. Kraft Jr., flight director, expressed confidence that enough data had been gained from a later make-believe rendezvous with a phantom Agena rocket to guarantee success.

The final equipment failure came after the spacecraft had landed 103 miles from its target, an error caused by wrong information fed from a ground-based computer to the spacecraft's computer. The communication system quit.

The first frogman to reach the spacecraft, Lt. John P. Hunt of Jamaica Plain, Boston, Mass., said he was a bit anxious because of the failure.

Thumbs Up

With word of a thumbs-up signal to a hovering helicopter, indicating the two men were all right, Kraft broke out a traditional box of cigars in the Gemini control room in Houston. The space scientists puffed away happily, another successful manned shot under their belts — the ninth.

Cooper had expressed a desire to "land on the deck of the carrier" — by crane pickup of the spacecraft — instead of being swung individually aboard a copter.

After he learned that would mean more than four hours inside the cramped spacecraft, he said, "I think we'll exit now."

Cliff Hanging

Later, on board the recovery ship, Cooper said during an informal coffee: "We were hanging on a cliff all eight days of the flight. It could have ended at any time."

Tropical storm Betsy caused the flight to be cut short one orbit. It was the first U.S. manned mission to be shortened.

On the 120th orbit — the last before re-entry began — the astronauts' wives stood in their yards in suburban Houston and watched as it twinkled past.

The dangerous re-entry started southeast of Hawaii at 7:27 a.m. (EST). All four of the 100-pound retro rockets fired perfectly, breaking the spacecraft into its descent.

Gemini 5 headed down, slowing from 17,457 to 17,150 miles an hour. The cut in speed meant that the capsule couldn't maintain its orbit any longer. The thickening atmosphere slowed it more as it plunged earthward.

The jettisoned equipment section started to catch up with the capsule. "Fantastic," Conrad said.

Hot Bottom

The Gemini 5 spacecraft blazed on down in the dawn sky.

its bottom end red-hot from the atmospheric friction.

Over Alabama the red-hot spacecraft sped on.

"Drogue chute open," Conrad said calmly, although Dr. Berry revealed later the jaunty astronaut's heart was pounding at a record rate of 180 beats a minute — a high for the flight.

After being stabilized by the drogue chute, the big, orange-striped main parachute blossomed out. Four minutes later the spacecraft splashed into the Atlantic.

"We are on the water and feeling fine," came the voice of Cooper in a faint radio transmission and then there was no other word from the astronauts until the frogmen arrived about 30 minutes later.

Stayed in Suits

The spacemen stayed in their suits although Berry had told them before the flight to remove the heavy garments as soon as they hit the water.

"They didn't want to go aboard the carrier in their underwear," Berry said. "We had flight coveralls dropped to them from the helicopter. Why they didn't put them on, I don't know. I'll have to speak to them about that."

Sailors lined the carrier deck for a look at the new space heroes who bounced to the carrier deck and started to kid each other about their personal appearance.

On the carriers sic kbay, the space twins shucked their space suits and talked to President Johnson.

Broke Records

On going 3,338,200 miles, Cooper and Conrad broke every space record for endurance.

Mrs Cooper and Mrs. Conrad talked to their husbands on a special telephone hookup between the carrier and Gemini control.

"It was a private conversation," Trude Cooper said. Sunday was the 18th anniversary of her marriage. "I will wait until Gordon comes home for a celebration," she said.

Mrs. Conrad remembered what she said to her Princeton University graduate husband: "Pete said, 'I'll see you in three days,' and I said, 'That's what you think. I told him it will be 11 days. But I keep hoping they will change their minds and let us see them before 11 days.'"

Strict Isolation

The strict isolation plans announced by space officials included a ruling that the men would live in dormitories and not be allowed to see their families until the lengthy debriefing is finished.

The last time either man saw his family was Aug. 8. A demanding training schedule had let them come home an average of only three days a month since their selection in February as Gemini 5 crewmen.

An indication that the official's hearts might be softening came at Sunday's news conference.

Donald K. Slayton, flight crew operations director, said he thought the families would be allowed to greet the returning spacemen at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston next Thursday.

Three days of debriefing are scheduled at Cape Kennedy. Then eight more are set at Houston. A news conference during which the astronauts can tell their stories to the world tentatively is scheduled for Sept. 9.

Casey Stengel Retires as Met Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel, baseball's most popular figure since Babe Ruth, bowed out Monday as manager of the New York Mets.

Stengel's retirement as manager becomes effective at the end of the season. He will remain with the club as a vice president.

The 75-year-old sports phenomenon, who has been out of uniform since July 25 because of a broken hip, was present when the announcement was made at a press conference.

The Mets announced no successor to Stengel. Wes Westrum will remain as interim manager through the rest of the season, continuing in the job he has held since Stengel was hurt a month ago.

Stengel made this statement: "After much consideration I have decided to retire as manager of the New York Mets at the close of the 1965 season. This is due to my wish to be relieved of the arduous duties of active management, and on medical advice following my latest injury.

"I am delighted to remain with the Mets in an executive capacity."

Two motorists were killed in separate mishaps Sunday night. Robert D. Anderson, 28, of Prentice in Price County, was killed when his car hit a tree on Highway 64, eight miles west of Merrill, and rolled over.

Donald Alfonse of Cumberland was killed Sunday morning when his car missed a curve and hit a retaining wall on Highway 63 in the city of Cumberland.

Two companies also overran an out-gon in Kien Hoa Province, in the post 50 miles southeast of Saigon in Kien Hoa Province, in-guerrillas were reported killed, the spokesman said.

Patterns of Spending Changing

New Habits Reflect Rising Income Level, Cost of Living in U. S.

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are changing their spending and saving patterns because of both the rising cost of living and rising incomes. And more of them now plan to step up their buying in the months ahead and are counting on still higher incomes to keep them solvent.

Another jump in the prices of goods and services tells the story of where much of the money is going. At the same time, more than a million workers will get a pay boost because of this to help them meet their bills. Still others are enjoying increased hourly wages this year thanks to new labor contracts.

But much of the gain in spending which has sent retail sales up this year apparently is traceable to less saving on the part of consumers than the government previously thought. Revised official figures show that about $8 billion a year, previously listed as saved, really has been spent instead.

Tax Cut
The cost of living jump in July would have been even higher except for the cut in federal excise taxes last month. The Bureau of Labor statistics reports that this held the July rise in its consumer price index to one-tenth of one per cent instead of three-tenths on a pre-tax-cut basis. Even so, the index stands at a record high of 110.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, up 1.8 per cent from a year ago.

The July increase was enough to bring cost of living pay raises of one to three cents an hour for more than a million workers in the auto and auto parts, aerospace, farm and construction equipment, metalworking and transit industries.

The hourly factory wage in July averaged $2.62, a record high, and the average weekly pay $107.68 before taxes. The average work week held at 41 hours.

Benefits Offset
The government says about 75 per cent of the federal excise tax cut has found its way into lower prices. But a rise in sales taxes in some states and cities has offset this benefit for many shoppers.

Rising living costs, the Viet Nam war, and uncertainties about the domestic economy apparently have had little effect on consumer confidence. The Census Bureau reports that a survey of family spending plans show more consumers were planning in July to buy autos and houses in the next 12 months.

Your Money's Worth

Over 2 Per Cent Living Cost Increase Expected

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It's now only an even money bet that your cost of living will go up as little as 2 per cent in 1965.

It's now a certainty that the rise in living costs in the U.S.—as measured by the Consumer Price Index—will be the largest in years, will be above the insignificant average annual increase of 1.2 per cent in the past seven years.

It's now abundantly obvious that the rise in living costs this year would be exceeding 2 per cent—were it not for the fact that this summer's excise tax cuts have reduced retail prices on a long list of items. Just the jump in food prices this summer has changed the cost - of - living picture. The wholesale price index is now 2.8 per cent above mid-1964. Prices of services are continuing their relentless upward move. The steel price pattern is still to be seen—and so is its impact. The influence of the Viet Nam buildup is unknowable.

Price Rise
"We'll be lucky if, when 1965 ends, the rise in consumer prices is held under 2 per cent," says a top government economist.

Does this mean we're again threatened by inflation? On the surface, a price rise of 2 per cent is "borderline." If this mild annual rise were to continue, it would mean that the dollar which buys 100 cents of goods and services today would buy only 82 cents of goods and services 10 years from today, only 67 cents of goods and services 20 years from today. This is erosion of the purchasing power of your savings no matter how you view it.

Moreover, whenever news that the CPI is hitting a new peak hits the front pages, it reawakens anxiety about inflation among those who remember the spiral after World War II. A CPI increase in the range of 2 per cent would revive fears that we're pricing ourselves out of the world's markets. It well than an April survey turned up. And more families said they thought a year hence their incomes would be higher than now.

Revised methods of collecting and reporting spending and saving data are changing old concepts of how American families managed their incomes. The old way reported that in the past four years an average of 7.25 per cent of after-tax personal income was saved in one form or another. The new data chops this average to 5.3 per cent. The difference works out to about $8 billion of the record $530 billion annual personal income.

Changing Patterns
The patterns of spending also have been changing. Right after World War II Americans were putting 57 per cent of their outlays into soft goods — clothing, food, gasoline and the like. This has dropped to around 45 per cent. Outlays for services — rent, transportation, medical care etc. — rose from 31.6 per cent in 1946 to 40 per cent in 1960. But since then it has leveled off. The durables — autos, appliances and so on — average a fairly steady 15 per cent. Now apparently consumers are just spending a little more, but in the same proportion, for all of these things. There has been a noticeable upgrading in the quality — and cost — of goods and services bought. The percentage of incomes saved may be less than previously thought, but personal income totals have risen so high that the total of savings is a record too.

source than the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York in a recent analysis. A tire to you is a tire and a battery is a battery—but today's tire runs more miles and today's battery lasts more hours than those of a few years back. Most experts believe that quality is improving at an annual rate of at least 1 per cent and perhaps 1½ per cent or more and thus, most experts argue that an annual increase of 1½ per cent in the CPI is not inflation. The price index may drift upward as in the past seven years, but, says out, if you bought precisely the same items as you bought seven years ago, you'd find there has been the little increase in your monthly outlays.

Upgrade Standards
Your upgrading of your own standards is easier to measure. You're eating 40 per cent more date in the business upturn. But until these last few months, our what kicked the CPI up in June record in holding down prices has been remarkable—and if you was a 6.1 per cent hike in meat has been remarkable—and if 1965 cars are air conditioned and your own upgrading are given proper weight, it has been absolutely astounding.

"The difficulty of measuring against 2½ per cent in 1955, and quality improvement is especially important," says no less a automatic transmissions. You

Use Paper Plates for 'Chance Your Base' Game

BY CAPPY DICK

This game, which I call "Change Your Base," is intended for outdoor play, perhaps at your final picnic of summer or autumn. It requires the use of paper plates.

One player must be "It." There may be any even number of other players, such as six, eight or 10. The number of paper plates needed equals the number of players, excepting "It." Thus, if there are eight players in addition to "It," there must be eight paper plates. Half of the plates must be colored red with crayon or paints. The other half must be left white.

Scatter the Plates
Scatter the plates around the playing area where they will serve as bases. Each player must stand with one foot on a plate. To start the game, "It" had one foot on a red plate and counts to 10 as slowly or as must run to a white one and get rapidly as he wishes. When he one foot on it to be safe. Tamis River.

reaches 10, all the players must leave their bases and dash for bases of opposite colors. For example, any player who has

Monday, August 30, 1965

Similarly, any player who has been standing on a white plate, must dash for a red one.

As the running takes place, "It" tries to get to either a red plate or a white one before any other player lands there. If he succeeds, one of the other players will wind up without a base, and he or she must be "It." If "It" sees a player go from a plate or one color to another of the same color, he may declare that player "It."

Continue the game as long as you wish.

BELA CRKVA, Yugoslavia (AP)—The river Karas here is one of the few on earth which flows two ways.

Karas is a tributary of the Danube and normally flows into it. But when the Danube is in flood the Karas backs up, reverses and flows into the Tamis River.

Space Officials Push Plans for Gemini 6 Launch in October

Radar System Problems Seen as Only Possible Schedule Holdup

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — As space officials assess the flight of Gemini 5 they are pushing ahead with plans to launch Gemini 6 in October.

The only possible holdup is the radar system which astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will use in an attempt to rendezvous and link up with another satellite.

Mark of Pioneers

Humor Shows in Space Flight Conversations

By ARTHUR EDSON
MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Pioneers traditionally have courage, determination and a sense of humor that helps them bear hardships. The flights of Gemini 4 and 5 show that America's space pioneers fit snugly into the great tradition.

Courage and determination? Obvious. But humor is there, too, cropping up — as humor should — when least expected.

Gemini 4 and 5 have given space buffs time to know each of the four astronauts fairly well.

The crew of Gemini 5, which splashed down successfully Sunday after a record-shattering eight days in space, lined up this way:

Wry Wit
L. Gordon Cooper Jr. — has a wry wit. Fond of understatement. Often manages to squeeze a bit of humor out of a monosyllable.

Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. — has an unquenchable spirit. Loves to talk. Sweeps you into laughter with his sheer exuberance.

As for Gemini 4, one unforgettable scene revealed a lot about James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II.

While was taking a walk in space. It was a moment of great drama, but there was plenty of comedy relief, too.

Right in the middle of it White said:

"I'm looking right down your gun barrel, huh? All right."

"You smeared my windshield, you dirty dog," McDivitt said.

"You see, it's all smeared up there."

Not Coming Back
It's an unlikely line from outer space, but a most memorable one.

During the walk, White got off a crack that ranks with the best of modern sick humor.

"I'm not coming back in," he said.

Humor gets its kick from timing and the existing situation.

Consider, then, the plight of Cooper and Conrad. There they were in their spacecraft, tumbling around and around. Down on the ground engineers worked with elaborate curves trying to figure out precisely when hydrogen gas would stop venting and the tumbling would cease.

Capsule communicator Elliot M. See Jr. said: "We're watching it carefully and we're expecting it to quit venting at any time."

Expected to Stop
Conrad: "You've been expecting it to stop venting for two days."

See tried to explain how the spacecraft because of a wrong computer calculation in the forward.

Conrad: "That's the curve we've been working with."

See (chuckling): "I didn't know you had that one before the flight, the one with the curves in it. I thought that only the radar problems will bear looking into.

The spacecraft and Titan 2 rocket for the Gemini 6 launching already are at Cape Kennedy, being readied for an Oct. 25 firing.

The flight will last only two days, so other troubles which plagued Gemini 5 will not affect it. Batteries for example, will replace the troublesome fuel cell system for the shorter haul.

The 14-day Gemini 7 flight, scheduled in December, may require some evaluation.

Problem Areas
During eight days in space, the Gemini 5 spacecraft had difficulty with the fuel cell system, control thrusters and 10 other parts that may have been affected by the long trip.

"We'll have to look into these areas, and we are hopeful of correcting them to keep Gemini 7 on schedule," Mathews reported.

Gemini 7 is the only long-duration flight remaining in the Gemini program. The last five will be rendezvous and docking flights to perfect techniques for later three-man Apollo moon flights.

Completion in 1966
The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to complete the Gemini program late next year. Consideration is being given to using one of the last flights to send a Gemini capsule around the moon.

Early in 1967, the first Apollo team will be hurled into earth orbit to practice for lunar landings.

"We're driving forward to go to the moon in this decade," said Dr. Robert Gilruth, head of the Manned Spacecraft Center, after the Gemini 5 recovery.

The target for the first moon trip is 1969, but continued success, especially in the development of the huge Saturn 5 booster rocket, could advance the date to 1968, some officials believe.

The Air Force last week received $1.5 billion to develop a series of five manned orbiting laboratories which will orbit the earth as long as 30 days, starting in 1967. The two-man crews will determine if man can play a useful military role in space.

Families Glad for Astros' Return

By JIM IRWIN

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The families agreed they were glad the Gemini 5 astronauts were back safely on earth. Some members felt, though, the space twins were ready for a trip to the moon.

Glad It's Over
Mrs. J. Weir Sargent, Conrad's mother who lives in the Philadelphia suburb of Haverford, said she was relieved that the mission was over.

"I was glad when they pulled the boys up into the helicopter," she said.

White-haired Charles Conrad Sr., said from his Sarasota, Fla., home that he hoped his son, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., 35, would be aboard an Apollo mission to the moon.

Mrs. J. Weir Sargent, Conrad's mother who lives in the Philadelphia suburb of Haverford, said she was relieved that the mission was over.

"I was glad when they pulled the boys up into the helicopter," she said.

Wedding Gifts Stolen From Cars Near Church

LITTLE CHUTE, Wis. (AP) — Police are investigating the theft of wedding gifts taken from cars parked near St. John Catholic Church sometime Saturday.

Reporting the thefts were Mrs. Nick Husman, 710 N. Madison St., Little Chute, and Gerald Schrader, route 1, Green Bay. Neither car was locked.

control and talked with their husbands aboard the recovery ship Lake Champlain.

"It was a private conversation," Mrs. Cooper said.

Jane Conrad remembered one thing she and Pete talked about. "Pete said, 'I'll see you in three days.' And I said, 'That's what you think.' I told him it will be 11 days. But I keep hoping they will change their minds and let us see them before 11 days."

Mrs. Conrad and her four rambunctious sons had stepped from their suburban Houston home to watch the spacecraft twinkle over head in the early morning sun.

Just before the Gemini 5 came by, Mrs. Conrad warned the boys: "If you don't quit chasing that cat, you're going to miss it."

Shortly before the braking rockets were fired, 4-year-old Chris, the youngest of the Conrads, charged out of the house and fired his water pistol point blank at two newsmen. He scored two bullseyes.

What was most exciting? "When he came down. When my daddy came down," 6-year-old Andy Conrad said.

Packers Trade McDowell to The Giants

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League traded defensive end John McDowell to the New York Giants Monday and asked waivers on three rookies.

The 23-year-old McDowell, a second year man, was traded to the Giants for a future draft choice. He is 6-foot-3, 260 pounds and played college ball at St. John's of Minnesota. He was used on offense in his rookie year but was switched to defense this season.

The trade left the packers with 46 players on the roster, six over the limit for the NFL opener.
